Moral—Fight To Protect Hens 3,000 Years Are Nothing Engineers As Bankers

By Arthur Brisbane

INTERESTING as anything recent is the announcement that Mr. Dempsey has been offered $1,000,000 by a responsible individual to fight three men, not all at once, separately. Interest on that sum would support 50 families forever. Moral: For nations or individuals—FIGHT.

County Farm Agent Brown in New Jersey has vaccinated 8,000 hens with a serum, protecting them against chickenpox, roup, canker and pneumonia. The serum, injected under the wing, didn't interfere with laying.

Hens are strange and always surprising.

In the Rockefeller Institute they found it almost impossible to plant a cancer in the body of a hen and make it grow there. Planted in rats and mice, cancers grow marvelously. When this writer visited the Rockefeller Institute with Mr. Rockefeller, Jr., the scientists had only one hen with a cancer to show for all their efforts.

The world talks about King Tutankhamen, dead 3,000 years ago, as though that were a frightfully long time. What are 3,000 years in the life of this planet? Less than a minute in the life of a human being.

Evolutionists prove to the satisfaction of everybody, except William Jennings Bryan, that it took 12,000,000 years for the tree shrew, an insignificant creature, to change into the whale 90 feet long.

How long will it take cannibalism to change into real civilization? More than 1,000,000 years, surely. We haven't even started.

The Union of Locomotive Engineers recently purchased a substantial part of the Empire Trust Co. of New York. Some old-fashioned financiers shiver, and they will shiver more now, for the engineers will establish in New York a bank entirely their own, with branches operating throughout the city.

Instead of shivering finance should rejoice. Nothing makes you conserve more quickly than owning a bank, except owning two banks.

New York Consolidated Gas stock jumped up 10 points yesterday, made healthy by the United States supreme court's decision that for citizens to regulate gas prices is "confiscation." Since getting that comforting message from the supreme court, the gas company has been able to increase its dividends, double the amount of its stock and otherwise demonstrate the beauties of "pure democratic government."

That tender little corporation gas company, arousing the sympathy of the supreme court, has just published a report of its annual earnings—only $81,700,000. And it would be "confiscation" to cut down that profit, which is 6 per cent on $500,000,000.

Scientists of Smithsonian Institution say the poor red man came originally from Mongolian tribes in Asia. Siberians now living are said to look like red Indians in skull measurements, eyes, hair, etc.

The Mongolians came here 20,000 years ago from an Asiatic shore across the mountains of Alaska are now. They came in boats, on the ice. The water freezes sometimes.

Those Indians lived on this continent more than 19,500 years before Columbus discovered them. During all that time they were still fighting, eating and torturing each other. That may encourage you, discouraged about slow progress in civilization. We no longer torture or eat our neighbors, only cheat and exploit them.

The [illegible] telegraph companies and engineers. It is predicted that the radio will flash, [illegible] to a thousand miles a minute page of a newspaper [illegible] would avoid crowding [illegible]. Most surprising is the [illegible] in the unlimited speed [illegible] easily able to carry [illegible] a minute without [illegible] sending of messages [illegible] down to the speed of the human wrist.

Do you think this entire column hitherto has mention whatever of the Ruhr [illegible]? That takes strength of will.

TOMAH — The Tomah chamber of commerce has elected Dr. A. R. Garmen, president; Frank H. Drew, secretary; Arthur Johnson, vice president; William Logan, treasurer; C. A. L. Butts and Carl Giesler, directors.

Dobbin Replaced By "Steel" Horses Here Says Clerk

"Old Dobbin" is gradually being relegated into obscurity in Madison, according to figures compiled by the police clerk and tax assessor. Up to July 1, there were 4,735 autos in the city compared with 348 horses. The value of the cars totaled $1,-[illegible]0 and for the horses $38,880. Motorcycles totaled 70 with an assessed valuation of $3,870. There are also 301 wagons, carriages and buggies in the city with an assessed value of $17,275, and 14 neat cats assessed at $580. Launches total[illegible] 138 with the value placed at $18,250. It is estimated that since July the total number of cars has increased to over $5,000.

One Big Tax Bill Given Up

Split Bars Single Administration Measure; Two Bills Up

Governor Blaine today threw the Wisconsin tax problem back to the legislation for solution, with the announcement from his office that there would be no general administration bill backed by the executive. Inability to force an agreement on a single proposal acceptable by all of his followers, according to legislative leaders, caused the governor to give up his plan to lead the tax fight.

Instead, two distinct bills calling for widely varied methods of raising revenue from incomes are to be introduced into the legislature by the La Follette group, one a surtax bill by Sen. Herman J. Severson, Iola; the other a general income tax bill by Speaker John L. Dahl, Barron. "It is for the legislature to determine which bill will be passed," a statement from the conference of progressive legislators, given out by Gov. Blaine, said.

The Dahl bill, in all essential provisions, is the originally planned administration income tax proposal, estimated to raise $16,000,000 from earnings. It repeals all surtaxes on property and income, raises rates markedly, repeals the personal property offset, and raises exemptions for the head of a family and for children. Reapportionment of returns to give the state 50 per cent instead of 10 per cent of the total is called for.

The proposed Severson bill is an income surtax similar to that offered by him in the past two sessions of the legislature. Under its provisions income tax rates on earnings up to $5,000 would remain as at present. An additional income tax ranging from one to six per cent would be imposed on incomes over that amount to raise $6,500,000 annually. This measure does not call for the personal property offset. It will repeal existing surtaxes on property and incomes.

"Both bills are designed to relieve real and personal property of $5,-500,000, and to get away from the enactment of a number of surtax income laws," the conference statement said.

The decision of the administration forces to introduce two distinct and widely different income tax bills came after their conferences had failed to bring agreement. A wide difference is said to have existed over the repeal of the personal property offset, which vitally affects the Wisconsin taxing system.

When a split in the ranks occurred, the governor, according to expressions of those in attendance at the conferences, decided to let whoever wanted bring in bills, and if acceptable he indicated he would sign them should they pass the legislature.

Assemblyman Dahl's income tax plan is that of a number of leaders in the party. A similar proposal was introduced by him two years ago and came near passing the lower house. The governor is reported to lean toward his bill.

The legislature will now have to solve its own tax problem. Governor Blaine's attitude is said to indicate that he places responsibility on the legislators for a change in the taxing system.

The statement given out by the governor said in part:

"One tentative bill will be a straight income tax, raising the sum of $6,500,000 and repealing the surtaxes or mill taxes of $5,500,000 and the surtax for the teachers retirement fund. This bill does not amend or modify the present normal income tax law, and therefore does not repeal the personal property offset. Rates start on the higher incomes, in effect establishing a higher exemption.

"The other tentative bill increases the present normal income tax in round numbers $6,500,000 annually and repeals the mill taxes on real and personal property and the surtax for the retirement fund. The bill will provide for 50 per cent of the normal tax to be paid into a state fund. This bill repeals the personal property offset. Exemptions to the head of a family and for children will be increased.

"The introduction of these bills is wholly in the hands of the legislature and they will be available to the press and public when introduced. They are tentative bills, upon which public hearings will be held, and then it is for the legislature to determine which will be passed."

Madison Auto Show is Planned in Ordnance Building February

Plan To Make Display This Year Biggest On Record

Madison will have an automobile show this year. It is planned to make it the biggest affair of that kind ever held here.

A contract will be signed tomorrow for the use of the Four Lakes Ordnance building in Fair Oaks, it was said today. A meeting of the committee of automobile dealers in charge will be held tomorrow to make definite arrangements.

Active participation by almost every auto dealer in the city has been promised, a member of the committee said today. The building will be decorated for the occasion.

The dealers did not unite in plans for a show last year and no all-city display was held. Dancing and music are being planned as features. Extra street car service will be arranged for by the committee.

Ft. Atkinson Man Elected By Road Men

R. D. Royce President; Ask Legislature For Road Fund

R. D. Royce, Ft. Atkinson, county commissioner of Jefferson county was elected president of the Wisconsin County Highway Commissioners' association at the closing session of the road school at Turner hall this afternoon.

C. W. Nystram, Balsam Lake, Polk county commissioner, was chosen vice president; and James Binning, Oshkosh, Winnebago county commissioner, secretary-treasurer.

A resolution was passed asking the legislature to pass a bill appropriating a fund to meet the federal highway appropriation, and to appropriate money for state road contracts work on which will begin June 30.

24,000 Local Tax Sent By City Treasurer

Collection To Begin On Monday; Big Staff At Work

Over 24,000 tax statements will be mailed out today and Saturday through the city treasurer's office. Over 13,000 statements on real estate alone will be mailed out, and about 10,000 in income and personal property and 1,000 in surtaxes.

Taxpayers will begin receiving the statements Saturday, ready for the collection of all taxes Monday morning at the office of Carl Moe, city treasurer. A sum of $2,675,-892.36 will be collected during the month of February.

Collection of the taxes will be in charge of Carl Moe, city treasurer, who will have as his assistants, Matt Conlin, Paul Steul, Sid Thomas, and Clarence aPrr.

Says Girls in Madison Hotels Work Long Hours in Order Not to Miss Any of the Tips

That girls in Madison hotels work long hours in order not to miss any tips and that the older a girl becomes the smaller is her opportunity to get tips, are statements made in an article just published in The Survey, an eastern periodical.

The article was written by a young woman writer, who worked in hotels in Wisconsin in order to get information as to conditions among the 18,000 women and girls who are employed in Wisconsin hotels. The writer signs her name as Ruth Gordon and she tells of conditions in Milwaukee, Madison and Kilbourn hotels.

The names of the hotels used in the article are fictitious and the real names of the hotels together with the report of conditions made by Miss Gordon are in the hands of The Survey. The article calls the Madison hotels in which Miss Gordon made her investigation the Lake and the Circle. The article in part follows:

For five years I have been a hotel worker in New York, Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin. When I am asked if I have ever worked in a good hotel I have to say "No." But I know that there could be good hotels, because for every bad feature in any hotel I ever worked in I have met a fine and feasible remedy operating in some other place. The law could bring all these good things together in the same hotel.

In Wisconsin, where I have been working this last year, the law which limits the hours a woman may work applies to: "factories, workshops . . . mercantile establishments, confectionery stores and restaurants," with no mention of hotels at all.

After working in the Raymond House, the Felton and the Maurice, three of the largest hotels in Milwaukee, and in one small hotel there; at the Lake and Circle hotels of Madison; at the Fern and Elk Inn, summer hotels in Kilbourn, as chambermaid, counter girl, fruit pantry girl, kitchen girl and waitress, I realize how hard it is for the other eighteen thousand women working in the hotels of the state not to have the Hours of Labor Law apply to them.

It isn't that hotels haven't a difficult problem with regard to hours—they have. Most hotel departments must give service from six in the morning until midnight, with three times a day when work is heaviest; so it is hard to arrange reasonable hours. But in most hotel departments hours are not arranged at all. The measure of a job is how much work there is, not how much time a girl can be reasonably expected to work.

Margaret Murphy, head cook at the Elk Inn, started the fire at 5:15 every morning, hurriedly served order after order of eggs in different styles, rushed to her preparations for dinner. At about eleven she would say, "I haven't had a drink of water yet; I feel faint." At three she would be through with dinner, only to begin again before five on supper, which would be over about eight. For many years she had worked this thirteen-hour day stretched over fifteen hours.

The two waitresses, the dishwasher and I as kitchen helper worked an eleven-hour day stretched over fifteen hours. These were not emergency hours, but the regular thing. During the Labor Day week-end, we handled one hundred additional guests. At the end of the week every one was dead tired. The boss had given every girl a dollar tip for her extra hard work, but the day after the rush we were called at 5:30 as usual and put to help can fruit.

It isn't as though the work in hotels stopped on Sundays and holidays as it does in factories. It keeps right along. The cashier at the Lake Hotel worked for three years without a day off. "I work every day, Thanksgiving, Christmas, all holidays," she told me, "so I never get a chance to see my friends or family. I can't even get off to go to a funeral when my relatives die. I took two weeks off, though I couldn't afford it . . and I didn't get out of bed for the first four days. I thought I'd get a real rest. I kept wanting to apply somewhere else for a job, but you know it took me the whole two weeks to get civil. . . . I felt that ugly and tired after working a whole year from morning to night without a day off."

But among the younger girls

Ex-Envoy To China Is Called

Death Comes While Wisconsin Man Serves As Peking Counsellor

(By the Associated Press)

SHANGHAI — Dr. Paul Samuel Reinsch, formerly American minister to China and later counsellor to the Chinese government, died here today after a protracted illness.

In December Dr. Reinsch, then at Hankow, suffered a collapse and was brought to Shanghai where his illness was diagnosed as encephalitis. Recently bronchi-pneumonia set in and this complication resulted fatally at 11 o'clock this morning.

Until his death Dr. Reinsch was counsellor at Peking. He had a host of friends in China, and when he resigned as U. S. minister in 1919 he was given a remarkable demonstration of admiration by prominent Chinese.

Dr. Reinsch was born in Milwaukee, June 10, 1870, a son of George J. Reinsch. He came to Madison to attend the university. He received his A. B. degree is 1892; LL. D. in 1894 and a Ph. D in 1898. The following year he was appointed an assistant professor in the political science department here, becoming an associate of Dr. Richard T. Ely, who had previously instructed him in the class rooms. In 1901 he became a professor and continued on the faculty until 1913.

He had studied at the University of Paris, and at Rome and Berlin. He was married in 1900 to Miss Alma Marie Moser of Ashland, Wis. While at the university he originated the course of international organizations now standard in American colleges.

In 1913 he left the university to act as minister to China. After six years in diplomatic service he returned in 1920 to open a practice of law in Washington. He is the author of several books on international and national political science subjects and was considered an authority. His works have been translated into Chinese, Japanese, Spanish and German.

In 1922 Dr. Reinsch was appointed counsellor and financial advisor to the Chinese government in America.

Dr. Reinsch was a candidate for the United States senate from Wisconsin, opposing Lenroot in his campaign. He lived in Madison at Wisconsin ave. and Gilman st., throughout his university career. He moved from here 10 years ago when he became minister to China. He had many close friends and acquaintances in this city.

Dr. Reinsch lived barely long enough to see consummated one of his many plans for the welfare of China—the return of Shantung. He devoted the later years of his life entirely to furthering foreign good will toward China and toward working on solutions of China's tangled domestic problems.

Moratorium In Germany Is Declared Void

Reparatos Committee In Action; Hit German Attitude

(By the Associated Press)

PARIS — The reparations commission took important decisions this afternoon. First, it declared the request for a moratorium made by Germany on Nov. 4, last, null and void, because of the German attitude toward occupation of the Ruhr as shown by its letter of Jan. 13, which stated that all reparation deliveries to the powers responsible for the occupation would be suspended while the occupation lasted.

The second decision of the commission was to declare Germany in general default of all reparation obligations to France and Belgium as provided for under paragraph 17, annex 2, part 8, of the treaty of Versailles.

Defies Death To Rush Men To Hospital

Sturgeon Bay Man Makes Heroic Dash Over Thin Ice

STURGEON BAY, Wis.—A heroic dash yesterday across the thin ice of Death's Door Passage on horse driven sleighs, from Washington Island to Sturgeon Bay, saved the lives of Oliver Bejarinson, 19, and Charles Jensen, 19, who were critically ill and in need of surgical attention which could be given only in a hospital. The 55 mile trip across the perilous ice fields, and blocked roads was made by Captain George Moe and part of his crew from the Plum island coast guard station, and the dash was marked by many narrow escapes from cracking ice, and only the great speed at which the sleighs traveled brought them through with a bare margin of safety.

39 Reported Killed In Ceylon Rail Crash

LONDON—Thirty-nine persons were reported killed in a railroad accident in northern Ceylon, says a Central News dispatch from Colombo this evening. Many others were injured. The accident was due to a storm with floods which washed away a section of the track.

Mayor Of City Held By French

Duesseldorf Burgomaster To Be Court Martialed Following Riot

BULLETIN

(By the Associated Press)

BERLIN—A state of siege has been proclaimed in the Aix La Chapelle and Kreuznach districts by the French occupational authorities as the result of yesterday's demonstrations, according to the correspondent of the Berliner Tageblatt at Aix La Chapelle.

BULLETIN

(By the Associated Press)

DUESSELDORF — Burgomaster Schmidt and Dr. Oexle, director of police at Duesseldorf, were arrested by the French authorities today and placed in jail awaiting court-martial for failure to enforce order. They are charged with being responsible for yesterday's disorders which the French troops put down only after the firing of several shots.

(By the Associated Press)

DUESSELDORF—Desultory rifle firing, which was in progress in various parts of the city throughout the evening, ceased at a late hour when French cavalry and infantry patrols cleared the streets. At midnight Duesseldorf was outwardly calm.

Two Germans were reported wounded during the course of the disturbance which started early in the evening when a mob celebrated simultaneously the return of Fritz Thyssen and a two hour protest strike. That more persons were not hurt was due to the fact that the sentries and patrols were under orders to fire into the air and only shoot to kill should the crowd refuse to break up.

19 Arrested After Clash

(By the Associated Press)

ESSEN —Normal conditions, so far as street demonstrations or rioting are concerned, were resumed throughout the Ruhr valley today after last evening's ebullitions but unemployment is steadily increasing the railroad strike continues effective throughout the entire valley and navigation is at a stop on the Rhine between Wessel and Cologne. In addition the coal miners are strangling out of the pits in various localities until now some 150,000 mine workers are idle.

Nineteen arrests were made in Duesseldorf in consequence with last night's affrays and Gen. Degoutte has announced that the German Security police will be severely punished for their failure to remain on post and maintain order.

Cabinet To Act on Weygand

(By the Associated Press)

PARIS—Announcement of Gen. Weygand's appointment as high commissioner of the Ruhr district now is said, on good authority, to be waiting for the French cabinet to conciliate differences which have arisen over the selections of an office not directly under the war office for so important a post. It is understood Premier Poincare chose Gen. Weygand because he was recommended by Marshal Foch, who still is regarded as head of the inter-allied forces.

U. S. Soldiers' Wives Separated

Klan Leader Says Bastrop Case Frameup

Imperial Wizard Condemns Prosecution In Chicago Statement

(By the Associated Press)

CHICAGO — Hiram Wesley Evans, imperial wizard of the invisable empire Knikhts of Ku Klux Klan, in a public statement today declared that the investigation of killings at Mer Rouge, La. was a frame-up on the Ku Klux Klan staged by enemies of the Klan, "represented by Gov. Parker" and that it had signally failed."

He declared the governor of Louisiana had prostituted his office for political purposes, to vent spleen or gain notoriety and had sought to indict the Klan rather than apprehend criminals.

Hoan Refuses To Ban Talk On Birth Control

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—An attempt by the Marquette Women's League, a local organization, to keep Mrs. Margaret Sanger, birth control lecturer, from speaking in the Auditorium here, was frustrated by Mayor D. W. Hoan today. The Women's League branded the subject as degrading and protested against the use of the Auditorium. "I believe in free speech," Mayor Hoan said. "If the speech is as terrible as the women seem to think, police will be on hand to stop it."

Planing Mill Burned; Law Forbids Rebuilding

Rezoning of the last block on S. Francis st. from "C" residential to "G" light industrial will be asked of the city council tonight by the Fritz Bros. Building Co.

The company states that the property has been used for planing mill purposes for the past 22 years. The shop burnt down a short time ago and under the zoning ordinance rebuilding of the building for industrial purposes is not allowed.

Find Frame Of LaFollette U. W. Picture

Pictures And Glass of Bascom Hall Portrait Is Missing

The Capital Times was partially successful in its attempts to locate the picture of Senator La Follette which was removed from the walls of Bascom hall during the war.

It was learned today that the frame of the picture was found yesterday at the university service building among a score or more of other picture frames in the cabinet shop. It is now in the care of H. A. Shadel, chief carpenter.

The frame is about 16 by 24 inches over all, three inches wide and is made of dark oak. On the lower edge is inscribed: "Robert M La Follette, graduated 1879." The picture and glass were missing.

Petition Against City Paving On Main Street

A petition against the paving of E. Main st. from First st. to the Yahara river was filed with the city clerk today. The petition, signed by about 12 residents of this street, asks that no paving be done until such time as a complete new bridge can be constructed over the river to replace the present one, in poor condition. The petition will be submited to the city council Friday night.

$200,000 Sewage Plant Project Before Council Here Tonight

A bond issue of $200,000 will be asked of the city council tonight for the erection of a new sewage disposal plant at the Nine Spring marsh site. If adopted by the council proceedings for the acquisition of the land and drawings of plans will be started immediately.

Kaiser's Second Wedding is a Failure, Declares Writer; is Living Separately from Wife

(By the Associated Press)

LONDON—The correspondent of the Yorkshire Evening News, wiring to his paper from Doorn says:

"In spite of elaborate efforts to hide the truth, I have discovered that the second marriage of the former German Emperor has been a complete failure, and that at the present moment he is living in one part of the castle while his wife and her children are in another. I am told that a very few weeks sufficed to bring about the breakdown.

"Those who are near the former Kaiser have been struck by the grave alteration not only in his mood but in his character. He is said to have been affected unfortunately by the operation for gland transference he underwent before his second marriage. His own children have not forgiven him for the second marriage and his stepchildren avoid him.

"His means are reduced and his private expenditure strictly limited. He is living today under most unhappy family conditions. He can command neither service, affection nor companionship and the breakdown in his domestic arrangements is painfully apparent to the very few who visit him."

Use $1,000,000 to Clean Up Moon Here; Won't be Gone in 386 Years, Says Writer

The Capital Times has given the city of Madison $1,000,000. It has deposited $10 with the First National bank of this city. The interest on the $10 is to be compounded semi-annually and in 2309 the $10 will become $1,000,000. The Capital Times will leave directions that this $1,000,000 is to be spent in 2309 for the betterment of Madison.

This newspaper has offered prizes for the best suggestions as to how its money should be spent in 2309. The first prize is $10, the second, $5, and five other prizes of $1 each will be offered for the other five suggestions. The Capital Times prints herewith some of the suggestions that have already been received. Have you any imagination? Send in your idea as to what Madison should do in 2309.

Girl Is Facing Blindness In Heroic Action

Warns House Occupants Of Bomb And Is Himself Injured

(By the Associated Press)

CHICAGO — Sophie Holert, 13, faced possible blindness today as a result of attempting to warn occupants of a house which she believed in danger from fire when a bomb exploded on the porch. The girl and a companion were passing the house, occupied by the family of Vito Lombardi. She saw smoke and ran up the steps to arouse the family. The bomb which had been placed on the porch by an unseen person, exploded as she reached the porch. Lombardi was said to have received five blackhand letters within a month.

Long Feud Is Blamed For Murder Near Hurley

HURLEY, Wis.—A thorough investigation of the shooting affair at River Branch near here, in which William Nurmi shot and killed Hjalmar Lehte, a farmer, has brought to light a feud of long standing, in the opinion of Dist. Atty. W. B. Foster, according to the evidence gathered by the district attorney, Nurmi was called a "capitalist" because he owned a small store and allowed only 30 days' credit to his customers. According to Nurmi, this resentment finally culminated when Lehto attacked him, which resulted in his shooting in self defense.

Hugo Schlesinger Held Insane; To Hospital

MILWAUKEE — Delusions suffered by Hugo Schlesinger, wealthy 63 year old bachelor, caused a commission of physicians to pronounce him insane, Dr. William F. Wegge told Judge John C. Karel in County court on Thursday. The brother of the late Ferdinand Schlesinger, capitalist and industrial magnate, was committed to the county hospital for mental diseases by Judge Karel, but relatives will immediately transfer him to the Milwaukee sanitarium, a private institution.

The application followed his mysterious disappearance in Chicago, where he was found after a two day search, unconscious of events of the previous twenty-four hours.

Hearings on Important Bills Scheduled; Senate Adjourns to Tuesday; Delay in Action Hit

The Wisconsin state senate spent its time today discussing reasons why the legislature is unable to get down to business during the first four weeks of the session. Adjournment was taken until Tuesday before an agreement was reached.

With fewer than a quorum present today, and no business transactedacted during the past week, Sen. Werden, Ashland, suggested that it was time to get some consideration for a plan to shorten the session before adjourning until next Tuesday. His suggestion was discussed, but nothing done.

Committee Hearings Scheduled

Consideration of proposed legislation of importance will open before the committees of the Wisconsin legislature here next week. With the scheduling of hearings here today, the first actual work of the session was outlined.

The committee on education and public welfare in the senate, of which Sen. Eldo T. Ridgway is chairman, has a number of important hearings on its calendar. It will open Jan. 31 with consideration of the Titus bill to repeal the section of the teachers insurance and retirement fund permitting death benefits. This measure is aimed at the large returns to estates of teachers who have been under the retirement system.

Representation of labor and of farmers on all educational boards of the state is called for in the second Titus bill to be considered by this committee on Jan. 31. His third bill, which would prevent despotic school superintendents from discharging teachers without cause and a hearing, is also on the calendar for the day.

On Feb. 1, the Barber bill to extend provisions of the state eugenics law to apply to women as well as to men, requiring a prenuptial medical examination, will be heard by the public welfare committee.

The Huber resolution memorializing congress to submit to the states a proposal to amend the federal constitution to prohibit child labor, will be held by the judiciary committee on Jan. 30. Sen. Howard Teasdale, Sparta, is chairman of this committee.

The judiciary committee of the senate on Jan. 31 will consider an amendment to the state constitution to provide for an increase in the salary of the legislators from $500 to $1,500. That same day it will consider the Firsch resolution asking a constitutional convention to draft a new basic law for the state.

Hearing on the Heck bill to establish a juvenile court commission in Racine will be held on Jan. 30, and of two bills of Senator Quick, to abolish the Milwaukee city and municipal court and to create two new branches of the second judiciary circuit, will be held Jan. 31.

The proposal to amend the Wisconsin constitution to provide for the initiative and referendum as proposed by Sen. Henry Huber, administration leader, will be heard by the judiciary committee on Feb. 1. On that day the committee will also hear the bill of Senator Heck to permit graduates of the Marquette law school to be admitted to practice in Wisconsin without taking the bar examination.

The state affairs committee of the senate on Jan. 31, will hear the Hirsch bill, calling for the abolition of the Wisconsin national guard, a proposal that is expected to cause a rather heated fight.

Assembly committee hearings are not yet scheduled, but are expected to be announced Saturday for the coming week.

Hanson Asks Change In Primary

Assemblyman J. C. Hanson, Dane county, would change the time for primary election in Wisconsin. He proposes in a bill introduced today, to have the biennial primary vote on the Tuesday next succeeding the second Monday in August, instead of on the first Tuesday in September. This change is suggested in order, according to Assemblyman Hanson, to give farmers a better opportunity to get to the polls. He contends that at present the voting at the primary election is during one of the busiest seasons for agricultural workers. The middle of August would be more satisfactory, he says.

Assembly Against Tax Free Securities

The assembly of the Wisconsin legislature today adopted a resolution offered by Assemblyman Robert Caldwell, Lodi, memorializing congress to submit to the states a proposed constitutional amendment prohibiting further issuance of tax free securities by the federal government or by state and local governments.

Vote on the question was 76 to 8, with the socialists opposed. The resolution was pushed through under a suspension of rules.

Turkey Will Leave Parley; Deadlock On

Delegates To Quit Lausanne By End Of Next Week, Word

(By the Associated Press)

LAUSANNE—The Turkish delegates to the nearcast conference answered the allies' project to adjourn the conference by the end of next week, whether peace was signed or not, by announcing today they were having their passports vised for their return to Turkey.

At the same time the Turkish journalists here forwarded to Constantinople a statement by Ismet Pasha that if the allies left Lausanne Feb. 2 as they intended, his delegation also would depart the same day. Ismet added that there was divergence between the Turks and the allies on many points, including the disposition of the Mosul oil territory.

Every Town Home and All Farms Will Employ Electric Service

Electric service and the automobile are the two giant growths of the past generation. The motor car industry may, or may not, be nearing its growth limit; authorities do not agree about that. Certainly the electric service industry has two-thirds or more of its normal growth yet ahead of it. As one of our engineers says: "Only 25 per cent of American homes are wired for electric service, and many power and heating fields are practically untouched. We have almost no rural lines; our farmers and their wives now go without the service which would do so much to lighten their labor and increase the attractiveness of life on the farm."

Nothing is more sure than that eventually every city and town home, and every farm, will employ electric service. Its advantages are so great that it sells itself wherever it is available. The problem of the electric service industry is to get new capital fast enough to satisfy the ever-increasing demand for the service.

Milwaukee Electric Railway & Light Co., constantly enlarging its facilities to meet growing demands, finances a large part of its growth by selling its preferred shares, with the State's approval, direct to Wisconsin investors.

The 7% cumulative preferred shares now on sale cost $100 each. If you pay all cash, your 7% dividends start the day you buy them. If you buy on monthly payments of $5 or more per share, you get 7% interest on your payments, credited on the final payment.

Cash dividends on these shares, mailed to shareholders, are paid March 1, June 1, Sept. 1, and Dec. 1, every year, at the rate of $1.75 per share—$7 a year.

We recommend these shares to both small and large investors as a safe investment and a source of dependable income.

Mail orders for these shares are filled promptly by registered letter.

Who Will be Carnival King is New Query; Miss Ross is Still in Lead for Queen

I nominate for
MADISON'S CARNIVAL QUEEN

Address ---------------------------------------

Madison's most popular girl wil be selected as the Carnival Queen by a voting contest conducted through the city and university pubications. Votes should be mailed with a voting coupon for Carnival Queen Contest Director, Care The First National Bank.

This nomination is good for 100 votes.

Carnival Queen Contest Director,
Care the First National Bank.
Dear Sir:
Enclosed find $--------------
Credit these votes in the Carnival Queen Contest to Note: Votes in the Carnival Queen Contest sell for one cent a vote. Every Madisonian should cast his ballots.

And who is to be Madison's Carnival King?

For, if there's going to be a queen—and there is going to be a beautiful queen—there must be a king.

That's the question that has been bothering the Carnival committee since balloting on the queen has become so lively.

Chances are that the committee will appoint some jovial ice king to reign during the major portion of the carnival or until the fire king shall drive him from his throne and win the fair queen, now being selected by popular vote.

Dorothy Ross, Olson & Veerhusen's candidate, continued to hold first place today, just a few ahead of Violet Maxwell, who is employed next door at Manchester's. Miss Maxwell jumped from third to second place. Betty Coster continued to score heavily in the day's voting, however, and is easily within striking distance of first.

Manchester's have issued 'Violet Maxwell for Carnival Queen" ribbons, and installed voting boxes in the store, so it is expected that their candidate has considerable potential strength.

The race appears to be narrowing down to a contest between a dozen candidates: Dorothy Ross, Betty Coster, Violet Maxwell, Margaret Schaub, Kinney.

Blanche Rowe, Delta Zeta, and Gladys Norgord, Alpha Xi Delta, are the two candidates now receiving university support. And Miss Rowe jumped into the lead today with 700 votes.

Have you voted? Every Madisonian and every university student should vote. A purse of $50 in gold goes along with the honor. You can vote at the rate of 1 cent a vote. Take or mail your votes to W. E. Walker, contest director, care of the First National bank-Central Wisconsin Trust Co.

A community dance as a feature of the Winter Sports week cannot be held in the state capitol. This was the ultimatum handed to members of the mayor's committee by Superintendent of Public Property J. D. Morrissey late yesterday afternoon.

"We have adopted a rule of not permitting any local or Dane county functions to be held in the state capitol," said Mr. Morrissey, "and shall confine the letting of the rooms to state and national organizations. There has been considerable difficulty in the past, even when weconfined our open house policy to state and national organizations, but I do not think our experience in the past would cause us to change our policy."

This means, according to a member of the mayor's committee, that it will be necessary to scout around and see what can be done in the way of securing private halls.

One individual, interested in dancing in Madison, stated to the chairman of the committee that it would cost about $600 to secure two or three dance halls for two nights. This the committee thinks is entirely out of the question.

Reservations For Banquet Being Made

Local Progressive Women Urged To Prepare For Event

Dr. C. A. Harper, of the state board of health, Edward Nordman, state marketing commissioner, and Carl Thompson, Chicago, secretary of the National Public Ownership league, are among the speakers at the convention of the Wisconsin Women's Progressive association Jan. 31 to Feb. 1.

All local women interested in the movement are requested to attend the banquet to be held at the capitol cafe at 7 p. m. Jan. 31. Reservations should be made with Mrs. F. M. Wilcox at once.

Dr. Harper, who has been with the state board of health for 19 years, will tell of the problems of the public health service, on Wednesday. He was a member of the Anti Tuberculosis commission which selected the site for the Wales sanitarium.

Mr. Nordman, recently reappointed to the state marketing commission, will discuss the duties of that commission on Wednesday morning.

"How to Electrify Wisconsin" will be the subject of Mr. Thompson's talk. He will discuss the desirability of Wisconsin as a unit developing its own water power.

Thompson Will Not Run Again, He Says

CHICAGO—Mayor William Hale Thompson announced yesterday he would not be a candidate for reelection.

Mrs. Harris Now Gives The Facts Concerning Case

Declares Tanlac Completely Overcame Indigestion, Dizziness, Palpitation and Weakness

Tanlac has built me up to perfect health and I couldn't be happier if I had drawn a valuable prize," declared Mrs. Anna Harris, 62nd and Cottage Sts., Milwaukee, Wis.

"For a long time my health and strength gradually failed me and I was subject to such terrible dizzy spells and pains in my head I would have to lie down. I suffered dreadfully from indigestion, shortness of breath and my heart palpitated so I was frightened. I didn't dare eat fried food, and coffee and tea were things I couldn't touch. I could get no restful sleep and I just dragged around while trying to do my housework.

"It only took two bottles of Tanlac to change everything for me. My appetite is now so fine foods I couldn't eat before, now nourish me splendidly, and my strength has come back so my housework is no trouble at all. It would take pages to write all the good things I could say about Tanlac."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Over 35 million bottles sold.—Adv.

Says Girls in Madison Hotels Work Long Hours in Order Not to Miss Any of the Tips

who find it easy to get new jobs, the seven-day week is the direct cause of an irresponsible, migratory type of worker. Girl after girl would come to the employment agency and tell of giving up a job she had liked. "Never getting a day off like that, there got to be so many things I had to attend to, I just quit my job and took a few days off to get them done with. Now I need another job."

The measure of wages in Wisconsin for a woman hotel employe is $30 to $45 a month. Some chambermaids and help's waitresses get $25 and some cooks and pantry girls get $50 and even $60 a month, but they are exceptions. My own wages never went below $30 or above $45. Often they were higher than the wages of the old employes because I happened to be hired when I was badly needed. Girls know that they get more that way. The phrase around hotels is ,"It's no use sticking; the more you quit the more you'll get."

Two things are urged by the management as making up for the low wages, tips and compensation in room and board. But I have found that wages are exactly as low where help neither live in nor get tips. Inside workers who have no chance of tips—kitchen, pantry, Help's Hall and laundry workers—are paid the same low wages as waitresses, who do get tips—and as chambermaids who don't often, but at least "stand a chance." And there is the same low wage where the girl does not get her room—married women, women with dependents and women who won't live in. In the Raymond House counter girls who lived in got $35 a month, those who lived out got $35 or $38. The cashier at the Lake got $35 a month—no room supplied.

What this means to Viola is "Haven't gone to a movie hardly last year. I figure I can't afford that."

The waitresses are the only women workers who get enough tips to be definitely in favor of them. It is not hard to see why girls who make $2 and $3 a day can average $15 a week beside their wages, should be opposed to the abolition of tips. If you speak to them about it, you are met with: "They'll never pay you enough to live on."

I counted on tips when working my way West last summer from hotel to hotel and I know how they helped me then and at other times . . . but after seriously thinking it over I see that they hurt more than help. The more people you wait on, the more chance there is that you'll be lucky and pick up an extra big tip. You hope every time a party walks into the dining room that they will sit at your table, or if they look like "stiffs" who won't tip, that they will sit somewhere else; you're sore if some one waits on customers sitting at your tables, even though you know you're too busy to handle them. Tips make for an amount of worry and discord that can hardly be told.

And tips keep the hours longer. In the Circle an attempt by the management to even up the hours was frustrated because girls who had been at the hotel a long time would not give up the privilege of coming in always at six A. M. for the chance of changing with the new girl, coming in one week at six and the next at ten A. M. They wanted the tips in the morning hours; and did not want to do any side work—like setting tables, which the ten o'clock girl had to do—since there were no tips in it. Thus they insisted on keeping a day beginning at six A. M. and ending at eight P. M. The girls only half ate their meals . . . they didn't want to miss any customers who might sit at their tables.

The whole unfairness of tips is shown by the discrimination against the older, but more experienced workers. It is well known that the older a girl grows the less tips she gets, and the less chance she has to get a new job. An employment agent will say to a girl who looks over twenty-seven or so, "I've got a job with good money in it, but they asked for 'chicken.'"

The best interests of all the women workers would be served if tips were abolished. And the best way to do it is to insure a good minimum wage for all hotel employes. If the rate is high enough the management will lose interest in the tipping system. The public will not feel that they must tip because waitresses are not paid enough.

The hotel industry must operate eighteen hours a day and seven days a week, and where there is no law to limit their hours, the workers have had to bear the entire burden of adjusting hours in the form of long, unstandardized workdays, early and night watches, 365 days of work a year, and overtime that is not paid for. Only where some form of control has been exercised have hotels shared the burden.

Hotel women workers individually are trying to rid themselves of these hardships by quitting their jobs. And they have succeeded in winning a few things. The more skilled workers have been given a seven-hour day to alternate with their eleven-hour day, and even a straight eight-hour day in some instances. Half days off, one Sunday in every two weeks, or in every six, are the direct result of this policy of quitting jobs. Chambermaids do not show up for night watches and the housekeeper, who has to get a substitute when her day maid doesn't come, tries to see to it that a special night maid is hired.

But these individual methods of improving conditions are very costly to the girl sand only partly effective. We seldom know, when we are hired, what the hours are or what the food, the rooms and the tips are going to be like. After quitting a few jobs the girls decide that "all jobs are like." Thus only the younger girls, who can always get work, quit; and after they get older or conditions wear down their health and spirit, they take anything and stick to it.

In Wisconsin not much can be expected through the union. The great majority of women in hotels are farmers' young daughters, who have taken the hotel job because it offered them a room and board. If after eight months or so, they have to go back to the farm, to rest up for a month, they come back to look for an easier job.

Of course the public could control all these things through the law. When the Wisconsin law which only regulates the hours in restaurants was applied to the cafeteria of a hotel where I had worked, the cafeteria girls were given a day off—the first time a woman had got a day off in that hotel. A special "swing girl" was employed to take each cafeteria girl's job in turn on the day off.

The work in a hotel is just as hard on a woman as the work in a factory. There is the same rush, monotony, and cog-in-the-wheel feeling in all the work from cooking nothing but vegetable to washing nothing but glasses. But there is compensation for the factory worker through standardized hours and regular rest and holidays, permitting sufficient leisure for rest and play, and clean and airy workrooms, and enough wages for health and peace of mind. But, so far, the law which looks after the factory worker has forgotten the woman who works in the hotel.

Kato Says Agreement Reached On Arms Pact

TOKIO—The official gazette of the proceedings in the Japanese Diet Jan. 23, quotes Premier Kato as declaring with reference to the possibility of France and Italy not ratifying the Washington agreement that "an understanding thus has been reached among the three powers (America, Great Britain and Japan) concerning what should be done or desirable to be done." The Japanese embassies at Washington and London both have asked for information regarding the premier's statement.

City accounts totaling $54,905.91 were reviewed by the claims committee Wednesday evening, closing the city books for last year. Accounts for the month of January composed principally of pay rolls amounted to $46,633.79. The report will be submitted to the council Friday.

Madison Men Close 3 Day Vets' School

Convention Of Veterinary Society At University Ends Tonight

Prof. R. S. Hulce, A. S. Alexander, and B. L. Warwick were speakers today at the short course for veterinarians being held at Agricultural hall. The three day course ends tonight.

Prof. Hulce, instructor of animal husbandry at the university, spoke on scoring and judging dairy cattle. "Fur Farming Possibilities in Wisconsin" were discussed by Mr. Warwick, of the veterinary department of the university, and A. S. Alexander led a conference on "Soundness of Stallions." Dr. J. P. West, Madison veterinarian, led the discussion following the address of Prof. Hulce.

J. A. Kiernan, chief of the tuberculosis eradication division of the bureau of animal husbandry, Washington, D. C., will speak at the conference tonight.

Plan Group Insurance For M. E. Ministers

CHICAGO—Plans for group insurance for all ministers of the Methodist Episcopal church are under consideration it was disclosed today at a meeting of the board of conference claimants of the church. Pensions paid last year totalled $2,600,000, C. R. Oaten, business manager reported. There are more than 8,000 rettired ministers and dependent widows and children of deceased ministers. It was shown that $16,950,000 has been invested by the different conferences for the benefit of conference claimants.

Mrs McCormick Studies Psychology Of Animals

CHICAGO—Advancement of the study of animal psychology was the reason given last night by Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick for her foundation creating the Chicago Zoological Park when she spoke at a banquet here in her honor. "I want to give to the public for the time in my innermost motive," Mrs. McCormick said. "It is for the study of the psychology of animals. When we can make scientific deductions of the actions and reactions of animals we will find ourselves in a position to reach the human being. We must get nearer animals to reach the human soul."

MOTHER, CLEAN CHILD'S BOWELS WITH "CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP"

Even Cross, Feverish, Sick Children Love its Taste and it Never Fails to Empty Little Bowels

Hurry mother! A teaspoonful of "California Fig Syrup" today may prevent a sick child tomorrow. If your child is constipated, bilious, fretful, has cold, colic, or if stomach is sour, tongue coated, breath bad, remember a good liver and bowel action is often all that is necessary.

Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup." It never cramps or overacts. Full directions for babies and children of all ages are printed on each bottle. Say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup."—Adv.

Northwestern Woman's Club Holds Meeting

Baraboo Woman Is Named Vice President Of Society

A musical program featured the meeting of the Northwestern Women's club, held yesterday afternoon at Esther Vilas hall, Y. W. C. A. The appointments of Mrs. W. A. Hays, Baraboo, as vice president of the club, in charge of ways and means, and of Miss Frances Kennedy as program chairman, was announced at the meeting.

A large delegation of members from the Madison district was entertained, and light refreshments were served following the program of community singing and musical selections. Miss Frances Kennedy, accompanied by Mrs. B. I. Culp, offered two vocal solos.

Mrs. Kulp also accompanied Miss Hazel Morrell, pupil of Kehl's dancing academy, who presented Scottish dances in highland costume. A group of guitar selections was played by John McMahon, and Mrs. E. E. Parkinson entertained with a humorous recitation. The next meeting is on March 1.

MULE KICK DROVE BRICKLAYER FROM TRADE TO POLITICS

Rep. Elliott W. Sproul.

The inherent "pernicness" of a mule is responsible for Elliott W. Sproul being in congress. Sproul says so himself, so it must be so. He used to be a bricklayer in Chicago. One day a mule backed up behind him. The mule refused to argue. There was no question as to whether Sproul fell or was pushed. The hoof marks proved that. So Sproul decided politics was safer.

Letter Takes 3 Years To Travel 3 Miles

STURGEON BAY — Traveling at a rate of one mile per year, a letter addressed to Herman Voight, farmer, living three miles from here reached its destination Thursday. The epistle, which was a monthly statement sent to Voight by a local firm was returned to the company by the farmer who declared the bill had been paid. On examination of the postmark it was revealed that the letter was mailed on Jan. 3, 1920.

Women Plan Home Makers' Meet Jan. 29

Convention To Be Held In Connection With Farmers' Week

Several hundred women from Wisconsin will meet here Jan. 29 to Feb. 3 for a home makers' convention held in connection with the "Farmers' Way Out" program at the College of Agriculture for Badger farmers.

The health of the family, how to gain it and maintain it, will be the subject of several talks. "Salads for Vitamines," special diets for children, setting-up exercises for the women in the house, and how to organize "Health Centers" for the care of rural mothers and children are a few of the numbers on the subject of health.

Making the home more attractive by having appropriate pictures, and the use of good color and lines in furniture and draperies will be considered. "The Everblooming Garden" also is a feature in the "Home Beautiful" series.

How the home maker may make herself more beautiful as well as improving her home is to be explained. The choice of colors and line in dress, the selection of the right materials, and the making of the paper dress form to insure well-fitting clothes are some of the numbers dealing with this problem.

"Community Games and Plays" is a talk arranged because of the demand from farm women for some help in planning recreation for their families and neighborhoods.

Twenty-five special talks and demonstrations have been arranged especially for the women in addition to the numbers on the "Farmer's Way Out" program that are of interest to both men and women.

Among the many speakers who will addresss Wisconsin women at Home Makers' convention are: Mrs. Featherstone from the Elizabeth McCormick, Chicago, Mrs. J. Solberg of Iowa, prominent in the farm bureau; Miss Jessie Hoover of the United States Dairy Division, Washington; and Mrs. Mary P. Morgan of the Wisconsin Board of Health.

Mrs. Nellie Kedzie Jones, state leader of home economics extension work in Wisconsin and erstwhile the popular "Aunt Nellie" of the farm journal press, will direct the entire course for women in addition to giving a special talk and demonstration.

Mrs. Vangel Russell, who is home demonstration agent in Marathon county, Bess Rowe of Minneapolis, a popular home economics journalist; Dr. Dorthy Reed Mendenhall, national authority on child feeding, and Gladys Stillman of the home economics extension, are some of the other speakers on the program.

Mrs. Thompson's Advice

SAYS GIRL GOES OUT WITH OTHERS

Fiance Objects To Her Conduct Has Five Others On "String", He Complains

DEAR MRS. THOMPSON: I have been going with a young lady for six months, but someway I can't understand her. She has told me she loves me and I am sure I love her and we are engaged to be married in the spring.

I am a traveling man and when I am out of town she is always running with other men, not only one, but four or five different ones. But still she says she loves me. Do you think a woman like that would be satisfied to stay at home after we are married? Shall I tell her I don't like the way she is doing or let things go on as they are?

UNDECIDED.

It is not right for the girl to go with other men while you are out of town since she is engaged to you. Since other men mean so much to her happiness I don't see what reason you have to think she will give them up after marriage. By all means talk to her about it and if she is unwilling to be faithful to you, her love for you does not justify marriage.

ABOUT FANCY WORK

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Would you please tell me where I could send embroidery fancy work to be sold for a reasonable price?

I have bobbed hair. Would you advise me to keep it so or let it grow? I am 14 years old. What is a good remedy to make the hair thicker and grow faster? My hair used to grow fast right after I had it bobbed but now it grows so slowly.

BOBBY.

You might try the Service Shop or the Woman's Exchange in Madison. Perhaps you are taking the strength of your hair from bobbing Take care that you are in good condition physically and brush your hair well. Watch the column for A. P.'s hair treatment.

DISLIKES HOUSEWORK

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl 17 years old. I have not been allowed to go with boys until this year. My parents insist on my going with nice boys. Can a girl be too particular?

I dislike housework so much and do very little. Should I have to care for my room? My mother works very hard and I don't have the privileges some girls do as to parties, etc. I am in love with a boy, but I suppose he is not what he should be. Should I give him up? WANT TO BE GOOD.

Since your mother has to work so hard you should do all you can around the house to help her and always keep your own room neat. If you know the young man has not a good character you should not be with him. Your parents want you to have the best of everything and they have better judgement.

* * *

Dear Mrs. Thompson: How can one clean a prophylactic brush thoroughly?

Whenever I wash my hair it remains clean for two or three days, but then becomes oily and my scalp itches dreadfully. What can I do for it? Can one obtain the materials needed for a hair tonic at any drug store? How big a measure is a gram?

BLUE EYES.

If you mean a tootabrush, scalding will clean it. Do you use a pure soap on your hair? Try castile. You can probably get the materials at any drug store. A gram is the unit of measure in the metric system. Try the remedy A. P. suggests. Salty water relieves the oiliness and itching.

TODAY'S RECIPES.

Peas, Beans, Turnips, Carrots, etc., that have been left from dinner are nice creamed and served over toast for breakfast. As eggs are still very high, anything tasty for a warm breakfast these cold mornings is welcome.

Asparagus with Cheese—One can asparagus, large loaf baker's bread, white, butter, American cheese. Cut a loaf of bakers' bread lengthwise into thin slices. Remove crusts and trim into slices large enough to hold three stalks of asparagus. Heat asparagus in tin. Open and drain from all liquid. Toast bread, spread with butter and arrange asparagus on top—allowing three stalks to each serving. Cut thin slices of American cheese an inch wide. Arrange three slices of cheese over each serving of asparagus and put in hot oven until the cheese is melted. Serve immediately. A little hot white sauce may be poured over the asparagus before adding the cheese the toast may be moistened with a little hot cream. Of course this dish may be simplified when busy Mother serves it for the children's lunch. Ordinary toast may be used and will taste just as good to the hungry youngsters.

Baked Onions—Peel onions, cut in half crosswise and put in baking dish with a cupful of meat stock or boiling water. Cover and bake slowly until tender. The remaining liquid may be thickened and poured over the onions. Hot milk in which a lump of butter has been melted may be used in place of water or stock.

Chocolate Blanc Mange—Two tablespoons cocoa or two squares of chocolate melted, two tablespoons cornstarch, one-half teaspoon salt, one-half cup sugar, mix, add slowly one quart milk and cook until thick. Take from fire and add one-half cup chopped nut meats. Serve with cream.

ITEMS OF INTEREST.

Eggs Traced in Denmark—Eggs sold in Denmark are numbered so that each can be traced to the farm from which it originated.

Berlin's Big Potato Patch—The lowly potato is supplanting the might of the sword in at least one part of Berlin, Germany. The Tempelhofer fields, largest of the German military training camps, is now being devoted to raising the tuber instead of fitting recruits for battle.

Business Women's Dress—"The business woman of today should do away with strongly scented perfume, take off her silly clothes and dress in a sensible fashion that will keep her mind on business," declared the president of a prominent business college in Ohio. "The woman who goes out of a business college and into offices looking for a job has a small chance of getting away with a recommendation if she is one of the handpainted, baby-doll type."

The Ways of a Widow

BERT SUGGESTS A TRIAL ENGAGEMENT

Nan permitted herself the luxury of relaxing for one blessed moment against his shoulder. Then she raised her head. Tears were trembling on her lashes but she did not let them fall.

"I'm not crying, Bert." She managed to smile a little as she looked up at him. Very gently she tried to disengage herself but his arms tightened around her.

"Nan! Nan! I'm in earnest!" he protested. "This isn't a game. I love you! Can't you—won't you love me just a little?"

She shook her head, unable to speak but he went on unheeding.

"We are in this thing together, darling. What difference will gossip make when we tell people that we are going to be married? Let Foster tell his lies. Let Ethel Grant spread them where she will. It can't make any difference to us. Nan, sweetheart, give me the right to protect you from these miserable slanders!"

She drew herself away firmly.

"No, Bert no! Not for that reason. If I loved you it would be different. But I can't, dear, I can't."

He caught at that little word of endearment.

"But you could if you would let yourself go! Don't tell me I haven't a chance just because I've been such a fool!"

"Please—! You must not call yourself names. You could not help it. Neither of us was to blame. Call it fate, if you like but do not blame yourself. Besides," anxious to avoid any further protestations of love on his part, "this would not have happened if I had not meddled in matters that were none of my business!"

Bert was not to be turned aside.

"But darling, now that it has happened and we are in this together, why not let me help you in the one way that will do most good? Why not," his face brightened as the idea occurred to him, "why not have a sort of trial engagement? The announcement will be enough to offset this gossip and then, when it has died down, we can be disengaged—unless I can persuade you to turn the engagement into a real one!"

Nan hesitated. The engaging manner in which he made the proposal and above all, her own weariness of spirit made her susceptible to this novel plan, subterfuge though she knew it was. It would be good to have someone to lean upon, someone who was as dear and understanding as Bert, someone who would not demand too much.

Bert took alarm at her silence.

"There isn't anyone else, is there? I thought for a time Jimmie had the inner track but lately—"

He broke off as a wave of color flooded Nan's face.

"No, there isn't anyone!" she said quickly. "There isn't anyone else!"

"I see," Bert said slowly. "I see."

Nan looked up and caught the expression of pain he tried to hide. She went to him and put her cool palms against his face.

"Bert, dear, there isn't anyone," she repeated with a catch in her voice. "And if you still want me on those terms, you can have me!"

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE BOTTLE.

(By Howard R. Garis.)

One day when Uncle Wiggily was hopping through the woods, not far from his hollow stump bungalow, he chanced to pass the hollow tree office of Dr. Possum, who made all the animals when they became ill.

"Hello, Uncle Wiggily, hello!" cried Dr. Possum, as he came out on the front stoop with a bottle in his paws. "How are you, Uncle Wiggily? How are you?"

"Why, I'm feeling fine," answered the bunny rabbit gentleman. "My pink nose doesn't twinkle quite as fast in winter as it does in summer, but that isn't anything."

"No, indeed," agreed Dr. Possum, "it's just because of the cold weather that your nose doesn't twinkle so fast."

"I suppose so," said Uncle Wiggily. "But how are all the sick animals you are trying to cure?"

"Doing very well—very well," answered Dr. Possum. "And if you are going past Tommie Kat's house I wish you'd do me a favor."

"I will," promised Uncle Wiggily. "What is it?"

"Just leave this bottle at Tommie's house for him," went on Dr. Possum, handing the bunny rabbit what seemed to be an empty bottle. "Tommie has a little touch of the mew-mew fever," said Dr. Possum.

Uncle Wiggily was just going to ask what good it would do to send an empty bottle to the pussy cat boy when the telephone in the office began to ring, and Dr. Possum stepped inside, after handing the bottle to Uncle Wiggily.

"Well," thought the bunny rabbit gentleman to himself, as he looked at the bottle in his paw, "I don't see what good an empty one is going to do, but as long as Dr. Possum wants me to take it to Tommie I shall do so. Maybe Tommie wants to whistle on the empty bottle," thought Uncle wiggily.

For that can be done, you know. If you take an empty bottle and blow across the mouth of it with your lips puckered up you can make a noise like a whistle. A big bottle will make a low, deep whistle like the 7 o'clock factory tooter, and a little bottle will make a shrill note like a traffic policeman stopping an automobile when it wants to turn somersaults.

Yes, I guess Dr. Possum is sending this empty bottle to Tommie so the pussy boy can whistle on it and forget his fever," said Uncle Wiggily. "Well I'll take it to him."

Uncle Wiggily hopped off with the bottle, for it did not seem that Dr. Possum was coming out again. In fact, he was still talking over the telephone. Then Uncle Wiggily noticed that though the bottle seemed to be empty it had a cork in it.

"Funny thing—corking up an empty bottle," thought the bunny gentleman. "But I guess Dr. Possum knows best. Anyhow, I'll take this to poor Tommie Kat and maybe it will make him well."

Uncle Wiggily was hopping along with the bottle, when, all of a sudden, out from behind a snow bank popped the Bob Cat.

"Gurr-urr! Burr-rr!" howled the Bob Cat. "I suppose you know what I want, Uncle Wiggily!"

"Is it to nibble my ears?" timidly asked the bunny.

"It is!" howled the Bob Cat. "But before I nibble your ears what have you in that bottle?"

"There is nothing in it," said the bunny, and really he believed there wasn't. But the Bob Cat rudely snatched away the bottle, saying:

"If there's nothing it why is it corked up? Ha! I don't believe you. There must be something good in this bottle even though it seems empty. First I'll drink what's in it and then I'll nibble!" tipped it up. Teh next momentthe

The Bob cat took the cork out of the bottle and held it to his mouth and tipped it up. The next moment the bad chap gave a loud howl, dropped the bottle and cried:

"Oh, how bitter! How very bitter! That bottle was filled with bitter medicine! Oh, how I was fooled! Oh dear! And away he ran. Uncle Wiggily picked up the now empty bottle. It had been filled with a new kind of bitter medicine to make Tommie's fever better. And the medicine was so like water that there looked to be none in the bottle, even when it was full.

"Ha! That was funny!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. Then he went back to Dr. Possum and got more water-like medicine for Tommie. This time no Bob Cat met the bunny and Tommie soon grew better. But the Bob Cat had a bitter taste in his mouth for a week. Tommie had sugar in his bitter medicine, so he didn't mind it so much. And this is the end of the story. But if the roof of the house doesn't come down to the kitchen to see what the dining room table is having for supper, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Bunty's buttons.

Hubby is Asking Alimony

Mrs. Emma Baum and her son Earl

CHICAGO—For years the "Alimony Club" with affiliations in practically every city of the United States, has been a rather exclusive organization.

It has been the custom to [limit] the membership strictly to the male portion of the marital relation.

Headquarters have usually been in the office of some enterprising clerk of court, although the thirty-second degree members, the aristocracy of the club, have been known to hold their sessions within the pleasant confines of barred cells.

But now a woman finally has qualified for membership in this well-known organization.

She became eligible after her husband, Earl Baum, had [illegible] his rights and privileges in her favor.

This was accomplished when Baum filed suit for divorce and alimony in the local domestic relations court against his wife, Mrs. Emma Baum.

Of course the eligibility of Mrs. Baum for membership in the "Alimony Club" has been questioned by her attorneys and they are expected to fight the matter to a finish, the equal rights provisions of the nineteenth amendment to the constitution to the contrary notwithstanding.

It is the contention of Baum that inasmuch as the Susan B. Anthony amendment gives women equal rights with men it is incumbent upon every conscientious citizen to carry out the provisions of the law in letter as well as in spirit.

Hence he desires to confer upon her the hitherto inalienable right of men to pay alimony.

The final judgment on Mrs. Baum's eligibility will be handed down after a session in the court of domestic relations.

ENTERTAINS CLUB

Mrs. C. [illegible] Miller, 305 Norris [court], was hostess Thursday evening for the regular fortnightly meeting of the Keokookclub. A thimble party preceded the serving [of] cakes and ices.

SLEIGH RIDE

The sixth grade pupils of Draper [school] had a sleigh ride party from [illegible] o'clock Tuesday evening. They were accompanied by [their] teacher, Miss Margaret Neal, [and] Miss Vorhesse, instructor of English.

Arthur Blackler, Milwaukee, has been a guest for a few days of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Blackler, 804 West Dory street.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

A surprise party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Carey, 522 West Doty street, in honor of Mrs. Carey's birthday Tuesday evening. Entertainment consisted of card playing and music. Refreshments were served.

Guests present were the Messrs. and Mmes. A. G. Spencer, Thomas Kingston, Victor Lovedahl, Ted Asdjornsen, the Mmes. Cora Dueppen, A. H. Philamale, Ethel Rasmussen, the Misses Belle and Grace Philamale, Myrtle Lovedahl, Nellie Kelley, and Bert Stewart and Sterling Kingston.

Ninety-eight Out of Every Hundred Women who have tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for ailments peculiar to their sex, have been benefited by it. What a marvelous record for any medicine to hold! Over 50,000 women replied to a questionnaire recently sent out by the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. of Lynn, Mass., 98 per cent of whom definitely stated that they had been benefited or restored to health by this old-fashioned root and herb medicine. This is a most wonderful record for efficiency, and should induce every woman who suffers from any ailment peculiar to her sex to give it a fair trial.—Adv.

Women Hear Dr. Park On Juvenile Work

Will Address Progressive Convention Here Next Tuesday

Dr. Maybelle M. Park, who will address the Wisconsin Women's Progressive association convention on Tuesday, is director of the juvenile department of the State Board of Control.

Dr. Park began her social work when she was engaged as county physician of Waukesha county. She was the first doctor to give any regular care to the inmates of the jail and the poor farm. After she had begun this practice the county commissioners made it necessary for the county physician to give a stated amount of service to these institutions.

She is a Wisconsin woman, but the ten years prior to her acceptance of her present position on the State Board of Control were spent in Seattle where she acted as deputy medical inspector of public schools. Her experience with school children has especially fitted her for the type of work which she is now doing for dependent, delinquent and defective children in Wisconsin.

There are at present 2418 dependent, delinquent, and defective children in institutions under state supervision. This figure includes some feeble minded adults who are regarded as children.

Convention arrangements:

The Madison branch of the Wisconsin Women's Progressive association asks that all those desiring reservations for the banquet to be given in the Capitol Cafe next Wednesday evening inform Mrs. Fred Wilcox, 2250 Rugby row.

Women having rooms for delegates to the convention Tuesday and Wednesday will please notify Mrs. E. J. Brabant, 2227 Chamberlain avenue.

Mrs. Lincoln Abraham 315 North Brooks street, entertained with an informal dinner Tuesday honoring Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Kebo, who were returning from an eastern wedding tour, to their home in Lancaster.

Broke Up Housekeeping

"We had to break up housekeeping because of my wife's stomach trouble. No medicine did her any good for more than a few hours. On a visit to Oshkosh a friend praised Mayr's Wonderful Remedy so highly my wife tried it and she has enjoyed the best of health since taking it." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded.—Adv.

Teachers Of Badger State In Conference

Noted Educators Appear On Program Here Feb. 2-3

The thirty-third annual meeting of the Southern Wisconsin Teachers' association will take place in Madison, Feb. 2 and 3.

Sessions will be held in the Central high school building. Speakers include not only many of the prominent educators of Wisconsin, but several from other states. Dr. William H. Kilpatrick and Miss Mabel Carney, Columbia university; Dr. H. G. Paul, University of Illinois; Howard C. Hill, University of Chicago; and W. D. Reeve, University of Minnesota, are to be present. Dr. Kilpatrick is to discuss "How People Learn Citizenship." Miss Carney is the well-known school specialist.

In addition to the regular meetings of the association, several conferences are to be held. The coming of Miss Carney is bringing the principals of all the county training schools of Wisconsin to Madison for a conference, Feb. 1. They will remain for the sessions of the association. C. W. Gehrand, state supervisor of agriculture, is calling a meeting of the young men who are teaching agriculture in southern Wisconsin. This meeting will be held Friday afternoon. Saturday afternoon kindergarten and primary teachers will have a conference with Miss Mary C. Jacobs, field secretary of the State Kindergarten association.

Charles Vilas, son of the late Edward Vilas of Madison and Milwaukee, has been appointed general counsel for the National Biscuit company.

Sold Rocks Dyed Black As Coal; Under Arrest

NEW YORK — Vincent H. Olsen, Brooklyn coal salesman, was arrested today on a charge of selling 100 tons of crushed rock, dyed black, as coal. The charge was preferred by Benino Brothers, coal dealers, who declare they paid him $1,400 for the consignment of black rocks. Olsen denied guilt, declaring he had acted in good faith in taking the order for the now defunct Ridewater Fuel Co. which made delivery.

Still Is Found In Home Of Nakoma Man

For possessing a moonshine still, Floyd W. Grant, Nakoma, paid paid $100 and costs in Superior court today when he pleaded guilty to violation of the state dry law before Judge O. A. Stolen. The still was discovered in the home of Grant last night by state prohibition officers.

Negro Held By Judge In Default Of Bail

Caught crouching behind the counter of the Barbecue Lunch, 302 State st., at 5 o'clock this morning, William Sims, 20, colored, was arrested by Patrolman Charles Burmeister and taken to police headquarters.

Arraigned in Superior court today on a charge of burglary, Sims pleaded not guilty and was remanded to the sheriff in default of $500 bail. His case will be continued tomorrow. Cash amounting to $7 and a few checks in the cash register at the lunch room, had not been touched.

Council To Ask Garbage Be Unwrapped

Judiciary Committee To Seek Redrafting Of Ordinance

Building of a garbage receiving shed, adequate help to unwrap garbage at the farm and changing of the present ordinance so that all the garbage in the city will be delivered to the Dr. J. P. West farm will be recommended to the city council tonight by the judiciary committee which met at the city hall Thursday night.

A communication was received by the city at the last regular meeting of the council in which Dr. West asked that the clauses in the contract agreeing to the delivery of city garbage to his farm unwrapped be concurred in by the city.

The committee will also recommend that the garbage of hotels and restaurants, now left to the disposal of the proprietors, be turned over to Dr. West. The city attorney was instructed to draft a new ordinance which would include these business houses.

Spring Hats

You Must See Them Before Sunday!

MOST good looking and practical, too, are the new Felts and Felt and Straw Combinations. These hats so popular with well dressed Parisians just now, are sure to meet with the approval of Madison women this Spring. Some have felt brims with straw crowns, others have a little edge of brightly colored straw around the brim, and still others are made entirely of felt, trimmed with feathers or dainty little flowers. The smaller shape seems to be popular, with many quaint pokes in the collection.

Gas' Tax Backed By Road Men

Davis And Hirst In Favor Of Plan; Delegates Hold Banquet

Registrations at the road school of the state highway commission passed last year's mark at 10:30 this morning when the 895 mark was reached.

A tax on gasoline to finance the road program for Wisconsin was advocated by speakers yesterday afternoon at the road school of the state highway commission at Turner hall Registration last night reached 880, and it is expected to pass the enrollment of 894 of last year today.

"The tax on gasoline is the only way to equitably adjust expenses of road building among road users," declared R. W. Davis, president of the County Boards' association. "The amount of gasoline used by a motor vehicle is in direct proportion to the size of the vehicle and the number of miles it travels. Thus a tax on gasoline would tax those who use the road, and not the property holder who never or seldom uses the roads of the state."

"The gasoline tax has been in operation in 18 other states and has proved satisfactory," said A. R. Hirst, state highway engineer.

"Tourists who come into the state are somewhat surprised to find they do not have to pay for the use of our roads."

W. O. Hotchkiss, of the state highway commission declared that a tax on gasoline was not an ordinary sales tax passed along from producer to wholesaler, and down to the consumer, with each intermediate dealer collecting a profit.

"The tax would be paid on a car of gasoline just as soon as it entered the state," said Mr. Hotchkiss, "and it would not add to the expense of our state government to collect the tax."

Under the plan approved by the County Boards' association, farmers would pay the tax on gasoline, and at the end of each year would, upon affidavit furnished the secretary of state, be refunded the tax paid on gasoline used for strictly farm purposes.

The annual road school dinner was held in the cameo room of the Loraine building at 6 o'clock last night, with F. A. Cannon as toastmaster. A program of music and entertainment was presented. The dinner was less elaborate than on former occasions in memory of the late A. Hazelwood, late chairman of the state highway commission.

The program this morning was devoted to the troubles of county highway commissioners. Speakers were H. H. Kuehling of Lincoln county, Dave C. Williams, Green county, Joseph Connell, Manitowoc, and J. S. McCullogh, Fond du Lac.

The annual meeting of the Wisconsin County Highway Commissioners' association will be held this afternoon. The discussions of today will be continued after the reports of committees, presentation of resolutions, and elections of officers.

The group will adjourn following the call of county highway commissioners at 4:30.

Today was county highway commissioners' day. The school was held during the morning session with discussions of the necessity of accounting systems, problems of county commissioners, and the type of equipment used in road building.

Much of the waste charged in road work is due to inadequate systems of accounting," declared K. G. Hoffman, auditor of the state highway commission. "Money wasted which is much taken from the people to build and improve roads."

The advantages of cooperative buying were discussed by C. N. Conover, mechanical engineer of the highway commission. Mr. Conover has charge of all supplies and purchases made by the state to obtain better

Mob Rule Arouses Arkansas Town

Upper photo shows mob still loitering around courthouse at Harrison, Ark., morning after lynching of B. C. McGregor. Lower photos show Dr. J. B. Wright (left), mayor of Trenton, Mo., where Guy Cornwell, shop worker, shown at right with Mrs. Cornwell, was beaten to death.

Federal, state and municipal officials are watching closely the situation in Harrison, Ark., and Trenton, Mo., where lynch and mob law apparently has been adopted by citizens as a result of bitter feeling growing out of long enduring railroad strikes in those cities. Taking the law into its own hands, a citizens' committee in Harrison ordered strikers from that town and, charging that one of them, B. C. McGregor, wounded one of their members, hanged McGregor. Then they ordered other strikers to "clear out." In Trenton, Mo., Guy Cornwell, a shop worker, was attacked and killed by a mob. Four men arrested were said to have confessed to their part in the murder and implicated others. The citizens thereupon organized a mob and the arrested men were removed from the town to prevent possible lynchings.

Hays Scored As 'Uplifter' By Fairbanks

"Doug" Hopes To Combine Screen Stars In Big Organization

(By the Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES— Will H. Hays, as head of the motion picture industry is the official fixer of the films and draws his yearly salary of $150,000 in that capacity and is not the uplifter of the movies," Douglas Fairbanks, motion picture star declares, the Los Angeles Times states today.

Mr. Fairbanks, made the declaration, the Times said, in an interview in which he commented on his hope of banding together the motion pictuer actors and actresses under a "gentleman's agreement which would give photoplay patrons art" instead of what the "parasites of the industry" as he termed them, "think is art."

He made public several weeks ago, his plans for grouping the leading actresses of the screen in a combination designed to assure them a free hand in making and distributing their products.

The group includes Charlie Chaplin Pola Negri to faom Charlie is said to be engaged to marry; Harold Lloyd, Fairbanks and his wife, Mary Pickford. It plans to deal with no huge cinema corporation in the production or distribution of its films. but to transact its affairs more directly with the distributors throughout the country.

Farm Bureau In Favor Of Ford Shoals Offer

WASHINGTON—Acceptance of Henry Ford's offer for Muscle Shoals, provided no better offer is available and conditioned on the actual production of nitrogen for fertilizer at the rate of 40,000 tons a year, is recommended in a special report made to the American Farm Bureau federation by Bernard M. Baruch, war-time chairman of the war industries board.

Dane County Man Challenges Devine's Claim

M. A. Hanson

Postmaster W. A. Devine of Madison has a rival in the field as the "oldest in the postal service in point of years, "it was learned today in the person of Martin A. Hanson of Menomonie, a native of this county.

Mr. Hanson entered the service of the postoffice department on April 12, 1882, and has served at the Menomonie post-office continually since that time. When he entered the office. he was the only clerk, receiving a salary of $5 a month. Being unable to buy food, clothing and lodging on that amount; he slept in a woodshed during the summer and on a couch in the post-office during the winter.

Last year Mr. Hanson was appointed postmaster at Menomonie in the office where he began his services when but a boy of 16. He was born in Cambridge, Dane county, on April 3, 1866, and moved to Menomonie in 1879. Devine entered the service in 1886.

Microscopic Meal Calls Forth Sympathy of 338 Contestants; Here Are 7 Winners This Week

Scores Of Clever Answers Are Received In Dialogue Test

BY THE CONTEST EDITOR

THREE hundred and thirty-eight readers sharpened their lead pencils and their wits this week and deluged the Contest Editor with a basketful of replies to the last picture dialogue contest.

Clever ones, too! Again the Contest Editor was obliged, because of many duplications, to rule out scores of good answers. Most contestants, of course, saw that what the customer in the picture was apparently mad about was the tiny tidbit handed out to him by the waiter. So twenty-six answers ran along this line:

Waiter—"Anything else, sir?

Customer — "Yes, a microscope and a pair of tweezers, please."

Or else: 1

Customer: "I ordered a small steak."

Waiter—"You got it, didn't you?',

And a host of answers on this order:

Customer: "Where is the steak I ordered?"

Waiter—"Push aside that potato and you'll see it."

Or else the customer mistakes his order for a dirty plate or a crack. Or again, when the customer complains about the size of his order the waiter obligingly suggests bringing a smaller plate.

The punsters were busy, too, this week. There were seven plays on words around the Baldwin apple, the best of which follows:

Customer—"See here! Yesterday a hair in my honey and today I find one in my baked apple!"

Waiter—"The one in the honey probably came from the comb, but I'm sure that apple was a Baldwin (bald one.)"

Or the customer indignantly exclaims: "Haven't you got anything here but scraps?" and the waiter retorts: "No, not when you're around!"

Another favorite reply, submitted by fourteen entrants, was this:

Customer— "This steak isn't fit for a dog to eat!"

Waiter—"Well, just a minute and I'll get you one that is!"

So you see the Contest Editor had a hard row to hoe in selecting the winners after reluctantly dropping many of the good ones because of frequent duplications. Tomorrow a totally different kind of picture will be printed. Let's see every reader try his hand at it—the contest editor hopes to survive even if a thousand replies come in, each one distinct, original and clever!

Injuries Fatal For S. Bernet

Stanley Bernet, La Crosse, Succumbs; Injured In Coasting

Stanley Bernet, 18-year-old university sophomore from La Crosse, a victim of a coasting accident here Jan. 12, died at a local hospital last night. The accident happened at Jefferson st. and Oakland ave.

Bernet's injuries were thought to consist merely of a fractured leg at the time of the accident. Complaining of a pain in his side, surgeons operated and discovered that the boy had an internal hemorrhage. A successive operation was held, following which the youth failed to gain strength.

Witnesses of the accident said Bernet sacrificed his own life so that small children and young women passengers on the bobsled which he was piloting might be saved from serious injury in a crash with a motor car on the coasting right of way.

The sled Bernet was guiding had coasted halfway down the Jefferson st. hill from Grant st. when a car coming up hill blocked its passage. Bernet seeing the danger, headed into a telephone pole. The sled hit with such force that he was thrown against the pole, receiving a broken leg and fotal internal injuries. One other passenger, Miss Helen Anderson, also a student, was knocked unconscious but recovered.

Bernet was rushed to the Bradley Memorial hospital and later to the General hospital, where an operation was performed in an attempt to save his life. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Bernet, were summoned from La Crosse a week ago when his condition became critical.

The coasting victim was active on the campus. He was a member of Alif Mim fraternity, the Men's Glee club, university Methodist choir, the university Y. M. C. A., and a reporter on The Daily Cardinal.

He is survived by his parents and a sister, Dorothy Bernet, a teacher in Charles City, Ia. The body will be taken to La Crosse today for burial.

Another Coaster Is Injured; Not Seriously

Herbert Cohn, 9-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Cohn, 505 E. Gorham street, was severely bruised early last night when the sled on which he was coasting collided with another heavier sled. His condition is not considered serious by attendants at St. Mary's hospital where he was taken following the accident.

HERE'S FRENCH FILM STAR BEAUTY

GENEVIEVE FELIX PLAYS IN DUMAS DRAMA

SO few foreign pictures are shown in this country that America does not become familiar with the foreign favorites, although all of the American picture stars are well known abroad. Mlle. Genevieve Felix is one of the most beautiful of France's motion picture stars. She recently played the lead in the adaptation of Alexander Dumas' famous historical novel, "La Dame Montosreau." This is the first time the story has been put on the screen.

This photograph of the French favorite shows her in the costume she wears in the picture. It is much easier for the French producers to get their period costumes correct in every detail because they have at their elbows all the museums and other sources of authentic information.

Mlle. Genevieve Felix.

Those German pictures shown in this country were pretty good samples. Why not show us a French picture?

GETTING HER CHANCE

Louise Fazenda writes that she has longed to die all her life—on the screen, of course—and now she has her chance. As the Swedish maid in "Main Street" she does a grand finale. And says Louise:

"It's not half as much fun as I thought it would be."

TOMMY MAROONED IN PANAMA

When a feller needs a friend might be applied to Tommy Meighan, who expected to remain in Panama only a few weeks. But it has rained cats and dogs ever since he set foot in Panama, and he has to stay there until the weather clears sufficiently for Alfred Green to proceed with the exterior scenes of "The Ne'er Do Well." The date given out is some time in February.

"THE INTIMATE STRANGERS" IS COMING

Those who have not seen George Arliss in "The Man Who Played God," or who do not see it tonight are going to miss one of the finest pictures that has been shown in the city for some time. It is a photoplay of dramatic intensity, gripping action, thrilling romance, sparkling comedy and with a plot that holds the interest to the end. A coming attraction of considerable importance is announced as appearing at the Parkway, tomorrow, matinee and night, when Augustus Pitou presents the exceptionally talented and charming artiste, Miss Elsa Ryan in "The Intimate Strangers," the latest comedy by Booth Tarkington, which has enjoyed long runs in New York, Boston and Chicago.

There is a real treat in store for those who love good plays well acted, when the Selwyns' offering of Somerset Maugham's celebrated comedy, "The Circle" appears at the Parkway, Friday and Saturday, Feb. 2 and 3, with a jubilee cast of stars including Wilton Lackaye, Henry E. Dixey, Amelia Bingham, Charlotte Walker, and Norman Hackett.

"EBB TIDE" TRIUMPH OF PHOTOGRAPHY

One of the most thrilling pictures seen here in a long time is "Ebb Tide" now running at the Majestic theater. Not only is the picture packed with dramatic episodes, but the picture is an event in the art of photography, the south sea island scenes being a triumph in color effects. If you are in search of the unusual and colorful, you should not miss this film.

SAYS JACKIE IS REALLY A TRAGEDIAN

According to an eastern newspaper editorial writer, Jackie Coogan, now appearing at the Strand theater, is not a comedian but a great tragedian. "A widely circulated rumor," says the writer, "is that Jackie Coogan is a great comedian. Some have said he is second only to the great Chaplin, who first gave him prominence in 'The Kid.'

"After witnessing Jackie's silent drama performance, I am convinced that he is a great tragedian and not a comic at all. Perhaps Chaplin is considered a comedian rather than a tragedian because he seeks to fashion his antics after a pattern that appeals to the heart of a child."

Jackie has scored his biggest sensation in "Oliver Twist," the First National attraction.

There will also be shown latest International News and "Fun from the Press."

NEW ORPHEUM BILL IS VARIED

I like to see Victor Moore and Emma Littlefield in "Change Your Act or Back to the Woods," although it has been here several times and remains practically unchanged. Mr. Moore is so typical of a bum actor dealing with an unappreciative "props" whose imperative voice sounds the sentiment of utter contempt with each dirty look. Emma Littlefield deserves special mention in her role of a bummer actress valiantly endeavoring to get by with a sprinkling of ability and an utter lack of any finesse of acting or entertainment. Maurice Elliott as a discontented and irritable property man is also admirable. Franklyn and Charles exhibit their complete grasp of rough dancing and strong man performances in "A Vaudeville Surprise." They have a comparatively happy time in the first where their surprising co-ordination of mind and muscle furnish some fast action and the latter makes a normal man gasp at the endurance of the human body. Broderick-Wynn and company in "Youthful Personality" do some nice dancing to the expert playing of Burdette Sowie. Jack Broderick adds some fiddling music that is desirable and in the course of the evening Miss Wynn kicks some high ones. Muffs is a dog, but entirely different from other canines in his ability to fold up, double and triple up and ball up his precious body. Dewitt and Robinson mix up their own variety of singing and dancing and then one of the members plays a banjo with distinctive ability. Maidie De Long, no doubt, entertained many while employing her desires to sing and imitate a ball game.

Grant Refuses To Recant Or Resign Pulpit

Asks For Spirit Of Liberty In New Letter To Bishop Manning

(By the Associated Press)

NEW YORK — The Rev. Dr. Percy Stickney Grant, rector of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the Ascension, whose recent sermons denying the divinity of Christ brought from Bishop William T. Manning a demand that he "recant or resign," Thursday night replied to the bishop with a letter quoting ecclesiastical authorities for the statements he made and concluding:

"If at any time I have seemed to express myself crudely, I sincerely regret it."

Dr. Grant neither recanted nor offered to resign his rectorship. His letter was a ten page plea for enlightenment and liberty for the pulpit. In one place he quoted the sober words of Bishop Gore "in a book which last Lent you (Bishop Manning) commended to the diocese":

"It is pitiful to see how many there are among the professed ministers of Christ who, in an hour of popular discussion of some vital truth, are proved, by their perplexity or dismay, or by their uninstructed denunciations, never have thought at all seriously or deeply about most momentous questions."

In concluding Dr. Grant said: "I would say with St. Paul, that 'the lord (i. e., the Christ of experience) is the spirit.' Might I venture to add the conclusion of his sentence? 'Where the spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty.'"

House Clears Daugherty By 207-77 Vote

Approved Committee Action Dismissing Ouster Proceedings

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—The house, by a vote of 204 to 77, approved Thursday night the action of its judiciary committee in giving Atty. Gen. Daugherty a clean bill of health on the impeachment charges brought against him by Rep. Keller.

Without a roll call and by practically an unanimous vote it adopted also a resolution discharging the committee from further consideration of the charges and laying the Keller impeachment resolution on the table. The two votes were regarded closing the incident.

Blaine Stumps For Kemp In Senate Race

Will Back Opponent Of Nye In Eleventh District

Governor Blaine today announced that he will spend two days next week in the eleventh Wisconsin state senatorial district, campaigning for Marcus A. Kemp, La Follette-Blaine candidate for the state senate in oposition to former State Senator Ray J. Nye.

The governor is to speak at Superior Monday night, at Shell Lake, Tuesday afternoon and at Spooner, Tuesday night. These talks just precede the special primary election Feb. 3 to choose the Republican candidate for the state senate to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator-elect O. G. Kinney.

NEENAH—William Toepler sustained a broken hip when he fell from a vat which he was cleaning in a local creamery.

Colds That Develop Into Pneumonia

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga.—Adv.

Dairymen Spy On Frauds In Badger State

Maintain Expensive Bureau To Detect Violation Of Food Laws

In urging the co-operation of farmers in the state-wide dairy conference to be held at Madison on Feb. 2, dairymen are calling attention to the extensive and complicated system of surveillance which has grown up with the development of the state's program for perfecting the quality of dairy products.

A vast and expensive machinery comprising the work and knowledge of trained experts, is maintained by the state in its constant war against the fraudulent commodities that threaten Wisconsin's reputation as foremost dairy state in the union.

In order properly to administer the various dairy dairy and food laws and insure adequate enforcement of police powers regulating sale and manufacture, the state maintains a well-equipped laboratory at the chemistry building of the University of Wisconsin. Here skilled analytical chemists conduct investigations of the numerous samples collected from all parts of the state. Prosecutions for violations of dairy and food laws are based on these analyses.

It is a long and painstaking task that confronts the chemists. Detection of fraudulent substitutions is becoming more difficult year by year. As surveillance has become more severe, methods of adulterations have become more skillful. With the development of food manufacture, extensive laboratories have become established to control and regulate products so as to make discovery of fraud impossible in many cases.

Tom Burns Claims He Has Contender For Jack's Title

Manager John J. McGraw of the Giants is so satisfied with the aggregation that annexed the National League title and the universal crown last season that he isn't anxious to add to his roster. This is the first time he has felt this way since his affiliation with the club.

John, however, feels that his collection of ball players are capable of bringing a third straight league and world championship to the Polo Grounds.

Of course there are some trades he would make if everything worked out all right, but apparently he doesn't care whether he makes them or not. It has been rather definitely established that McGraw has ceased looking toward Cincinnati and the hold-out, Eddie Roush. For a time it looked as though McGraw thinks $18,-000 a season is rather too lofty salary for any ball player.

Lee Meadows of the Phillies is one of the men McGraw wanted, but a query from the Phillies concerning such a trade brought no proposition from McGraw. It is understood that Manager "Jawn" would trade Earl Smith for "Gabby" Hartnett, the young catcher who went from the Giants to the Phillies via the trade route. McGraw is also willing, it appears, to let the Reds have Jess Barnes if they will surrender Adolph Luque, who doesn't like Cincinnati because he lost so many games there last season by a one run margin that he thinks the city is his Nemesis. But that's about all the trading McGraw would do.

Casey Stengel's bad leg may interfere with his work next season and Stengel may have injured his standing with McGraw by going to Japan with the baseball tourists against McGraw's advice. At any rate Stengel will have a lot of competition from Jimmy O'Connell, who was bought from the San Francisco club for $75,000.

Former Holder Of Middleweight Belt To Meet Demetral

Joe Carr Coming Here Feb. 9 For Go With Greek

Joe Carr, former middleweight wrestling champion of the world was signed by Jimmie Demetral, local Greek wrestler for a match here Feb. 9 at Turner Hall.

Carr, who was champion in 1914, having copped the title from Waino Ketonen, is a powerful grappler and should offer a great exhibition.

Demetral is trying to get another double windup bill—probably with a heavyweight bout Bill Demetral, brother of the Madison favorite might be brought here providing another heavyweight of not is willing to meet him.

Tickets for the card will sell for $1 and $2. They will be on sale at Fischer Brothers and Galvin's billiard parlors and cigar stores.

Demetral returned from Chicago Thursday where he was in conference with Oscar Olson of the wrestling commission and "Doc" Krone promoter.

Olson assured Demetral that he would see to it that Johnny Meyers would be notified he must meet the contenser before May.

Krone is anxious to promote the bout—for Chicago but Demetral wants it for Madison or Milwaukee.

Costs Richard $1,000 to Keep Jack Six Days

Champ Can't Sign With Any Other Promoter In That Time

NEW YORK—Tex Rickard announced after a conference yesterday with aJck Kearns, that he had paid Kearns $1,000 not to sign with any other promoter for a Dempsey fight in the next six days. The agreement included the understanding that Rickard would arrange two fights,—Dempsey's opponents to be chosen from Willard, Wills, Firpo and Gibbons.

Kearns said that his mind was made up; that he wanted Dempsey to meet Willard and Wills.

The agreement today does not bind Kearns not to sign with other promoters after the six-day period. He made it clear that Rickard's terms on the fights must be equal to those offered by any other matchmaker.

Dan McKetrick, eastern manager of the Dempsey -Kearns interests, was hooked up in another conference with Harry Frazee, who wishes to stage the contest at the new Yankee grounds next summer.

Being of an optimistic turn of mind, Frazee thinks the bout in that site would draw $2,000,000.

All bids will be reviewed in Kearns' office tomorrow, including that of Tom O'Rourke, offering Dempsey a million for three fights at the Polo Grounds this summer.

Badger Preps Battle Oregon Here Tonight

Don't Play Baraboo As Original Schedule Calls For

The Wisconsin High school basketball team will meet Oregon here tonight—and not Baraboo Saturday as was anonunced on this page Thursday.

A recent change in the Badger Prep's schedule which was not mentioned to the press, calls for the nearby villagers to come instead of the Circus City organization.

Coach Ira Davis' men should have little difficulty in trimming the Oregonians although a tough battle may be put up at that.

Paul Prehn Writes Book on Wrestling

URBANA — Paul Prehn, wrestling coach at the University of Illinois, who is considered one of the best middleweight grapplers in the country, has written an interesting book on the mat game. The book contains illustrations of various holds, how to obtain and break them. Prehn's book is being used by some of the leading wrestling coaches in the country.

Auto Volley League In Final Battles

The final games in the Y. M. C. A. Auto League will be played next Wednesday night in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium at 8:30. The Pantorium will play the Hippaka team and the Overlands will play the Bull-Hites team.

Young Gotch Seeks Go With Demetral Again

A telegram from Young Gotch was received here today asking for a finish bout with Jimmie Demetral or any other leading middleweight wrestler.

Gotch stated that he was not in good condition when he met Demetral the first time but feels that if given another chance, with careful training he can trim Jimmie.

Roundy Says:

At Last Someone Is Going To See I Get Tickets For The Prom

Did you get those prom tickets yet Roundy? Don't worry, there is a move on foot that will get you tickets and it looks good. We all read your column and for all the inside dope and other college info that goes with it—is fine enjoyment every night for the readers at this place. A. C. L.—student.

* * *

Through your column Roundy I got my dog back. Leo Dagget.

* * *

A certain well known bootlegger on the west side yesterday closed a deal that was up in the hundreds. Rather deep?

* * *

He said, "The wife sure will have plenty of T-bone steaks the rest of this winter," as he started for the bank to park the cash.

* * *

Jack Harris who looks like about the greatest halfback Wisconsin ever had, stopped me on the street last night and says, "Did you get those prom tickets yet?" He says the prom is off if I don't get those ducats.

INSIDE INFO

Meanwell has a 220-pound basketball player that will be eligible for duty next fall. He will start to school this semester. This big boy will be about the most talked of basketball player of all times in a year if he can keep those studies up.

* * *

One of the greatest stars this football team of Wisconsin ever had coming up to its ranks, is figuring on leaving school. He called me into a private conversation and asked me just what he should do. I was there with a boost for old Wisconsin and it looks like he will stay—if he don't he will maybe beat Wisconsin at football when he plays against them.

* * *

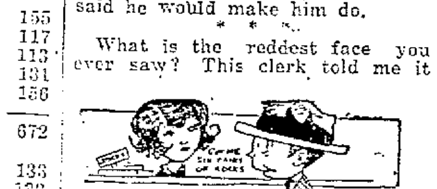

Ralph Shinners, the New York Giants center fielder, was in town yesterday and we were together for about four hours. He was a regular last year till beaned by a fast ball and then was nearly blind for two months, losing over 34 pounds in that time also. He figures he will be O. K. this spring, weighing about 190 right now and rearing to go.

* * *

He says without McGraw the Giants are no ball team at all. Jennings and Dolan could not keep the team together for a month. McGraw is one of those hard-boiled guys but with a heart a yard wide. Knows more ball in one mouthful than all the other baseball men combined can talk in a month. He sat on the bench in the World Series and the way McGraw out-guessed and kidded those Yanks from that bench was enough to beat any ball team in the world. In one hour he made Groh—a player that played rank ball all season—go out and play the greatest World Series game of all times at a third corner. He told the team before the series that Groh would be the star by a long distance and would make Groh murder the Yank pitching, and he did just what he said he would make him do.

* * *

What is the reddest face you ever saw? This clerk told me it was on Jake Esser's face as he strode in Manchester's and says, "Give he—ah—ah and more stammering, "Some nice ladies silk socks."

* * *

Sam Barry, coach of Iowa, says Michigan is not weak with Cappon out of the game, as papers state. Marry says Kipke is a better man all around than Cappon, at basketball.

* * *

Cappon was hired to coach football and basketball at Luther college, Decorah, Iowa, starting next fall.

* * *

The Chicago Tribune runs a big cut of Horton, the Northwestern wrestler, saying he is the best heavyweight whestler in the western conference. He had his chest sticking out in that paper like the statue of liberty—and beating him was a thing to comment on.

* * *

Wisconsin goes down there with their wrestling team lead by Coach Hitchcock and when Horton came on to wrestle Mr. Templeton of Wisconsin they nearly tore the roof off the Patten gym.

* * *

Mr. Templeton of the Wisconsin team took this baby Horton and nearly tore him apart and this is what happened folks. Templeton not only beat him but pinned his shoulders to the mat in—nine minutes and 44 seconds—Templeton is from Baraboo and is easily the class of this conference and will throw McMillan of Illinois here I think although a lighter man.

* * *

And there is another little wrestler at Wisconsin from Baraboo who they call—Bearcat Bob Holmes—who will make them step out to pin him later in the season. Speaking of Baraboo take your brown derby off to that town for sending wrestlers to Wisconsin.

* * *

Yost of Michigan is on the war-path due to the fact that he thinks Kipke should not play basketball. Kipke is not what you call a strong fellow. He needed plenty protection when running with that ball, and Yost says that if Kipke gets hurt there will be a fine jam as to any more football stars playing basketball on a Michigan team.

* * *

One of the biggest men in this state has been in touch with Dobie coach of Cornell and who is a La Crosse boy. Dobie played halfback at Minnesota and was a joke. A shift was made and he was put in at quarterback and from then on he was a star. Think of a man weighing about 155 pounds six foot 3 inches tall playing quarterback! Well that was Dobie's make-up. This man wrote to him and has the influence to get Dobie here if he can get away from Cornell and this man has an idea that Wisconsin should go out and get a honest-to-goodness football coach. Stop this kid stuff of names mentioned for the job. I will let you know after the coach selection just what Dobie said to this man.

* * *

Roundy's Column—Wonderful work Roundy on your work and stuff for an athletic field. Every fan and player in town is back of you to the man and what you say about that committee is a sure sign that they are men that know their stuff and this summer Madison will have an "athletic field." Give us a little more dope on it and it sure is sweet reading. We can't get along without your column every night. "Smiley."

* * *

Dropped into the "Y" last night, saw the girl bowlers in action. Want them to get this column tomorrow night and I sure have them all "written up." This takes in the Jolly five, and the Wisconsin River Power Co. team.

* * *

Oswald Nesvig parked his 268 pounds in Cy Bracklin's car. The car would not budge when the engine was started. Cy yelled, "Get out." Nesvig got out and stepped on the running board and it came right off the car. At a late hour Bracklin says no more Fords as long as he knows a man named Oswald Nesvig.

* * *

I am glad to see one bird that don't know anything about a football coach. It seems good to meet those kind of people. Here is Bob Trainor who thinks a football coach is—on wheels.

* * *

Augie Schmitz the plumber says when it comes to raking in bowling pots that he will have to get under the sink with the rest of the pipes.

* * *

Buta Barry eats 6 cans of tomatoes in one sitting and wins his bet off Alderman McGowan. The best of it was McGowan walks out of the restaurant and makes Barry pay for the tomatoes which amounted to more than the bet.

* * *

I asked Bob Daggett how his kid was named Parker. Bob says,

"Kids are kids but this Parker is the cat's-whiskers."

* * *

Graham Blackburn runs 43 at billiards and sweats so much that it runs on the table and they had to get the mop to get the water off the green cloth. If he ever ran 53 he would have had to call for a pair of boots to keep himself from getting a bad cold.

* * *

Iowa will defeat Northwestern. Purdue will defeat Ohio State.

* * *

Do you ever go to the Y. M. C. A. to the basketball and indoor games? They have basketball and indoor baseball games there that are for blood. Where would the workers of this city and city teams play if they were not welcome at the local "y"? Right out in the street under an arc light! Mr. Grimm and Cockrell the heads of this "Y" in this end of its program are doing great work and are two fine clean-cut sportsmen. The crowds are not what they ought to be. I will vouch that games held here are about the hardest fought and rip-roaring contest that a fans' eye can come in contact with.

* * *

This Saturday night the French Scanlon Morse will clash in an indoor game for the city title and take my tip it will be a game worth seeing. And then the French girls and 4C girls will play a basketball game all for a small fee at the door. The "Y" is doing wonderful work to shelter the games and the fans should respond with a healthy crowd Saturday night.

Church Volley Ball Teams To Play Saturday

Congregationalists Are Leading League; Baptists Second

The games in the Madison Church Volleyball League to be played Saturday afternoon, at 5 o'clock are as follows: The Presbyterians will play the Lutherans, and the Congregationalists will play the Methodists.

In the Presbyterian team the following men are signed to play: Roscoe Walter, Ed. Tough, Murray McGowan, Ray Stroud, and W. Toellner. In the Lutheran team the line up will be: Rev. Otto Wilke, E. C. Gerber, Rev. L. C. Viel, Walter Frautschi, and Melvin Otis. For the Congregational team: Wm. Lewis, George Hool, James McDonald, W. F. Faulke, Peter Carr, Andrew Hopkins, W. Frazier and Homer Adkins. For the Methodists: Wm. D. Foxwell, L. D. Atkinson, George Brown, George Hunt, Robert Johnson, Clyde Johnson, Paul Dunnewald, Theo. Dunnewald, E. Extrom, W. G. Kirchoffer, and V. W. Deist.

These games are proving of great interest to the members of the various church and are open to all friends of the players.

The standings in the Church League of these teams are as follows: The Congragationalists have won 15 games and lost 10; the Baptists have won 14 games and lost 7; the Methodists have won 13 and lost 12; the Presbyterians have won 11 and lost 9; the Episcopalians have won 4 and lost 19.

The results of Saturday's games will determine to a great extent the winners of the series, and it is expected that some fast volleyball will be played.

Green Bay Booster Teams Initiate 1923 Bowling Tourney

(By the Associated Press)

GREEN BAY, Wis. — Twenty eight booster squads, composed of civic leaders in Green Bay, initiated the 1923 Wisconsin State Bowling Tournament here last night. Speeches by Pres. G. A. Walter, of the State Bowling Association, Mayor Weisner and State Senator Timothy Burke which preceded the onslaught on the pins, extended the welcome of the city to the bowlers arriving here. Kiwanis team No. 1, carried off high honors in last night's match, spilling the maples for a count of 2,429. State teams will arrive in Green Bay Saturday and will hold sway over the alleys until February 17, when the tournament ends.

Exodus From Farm Would Bring Relief

That the program which would bring the greatest relief to the farmers would be for one-fifth of them to leave the farm and break into better paying professions, trades and business is the belief of B. H. Hibbard, of the Wisconsin college of agriculture, the out-going president of the American Farm Economics association.

"Quite likely the farmers leaving the farm would find difficulty in fitting themselves into places where they would be better off," says Hibbard. "No one cares to take the responsibility of advising farmers to leave their work and try something else. Nevertheless, from the standpoint of those remaining, nothing could be more desirable."

Hibbard believes that such an exodus from the farm would probably break the power of the groups holding prices up artificially. While this would not take place abruptly it is taking place gradually.

FREDERIC — Five business places wer destroped on Wednesday in a fire, which caused loss estimated at $25,000.

MANAWA—A total of 214 Boys and girls are registered in the various junior farm clubs of Waupaca county.

Ofstie, Henderson Thought To Be In Race; Select Soon

Jones Announced Field Has Been Narrowed Down And Choice Is To Be Made Within Short Time

By BRYN GRIFFITHS

There are but three men now being considered for the coaching job at the university, it was announced by T. E. Jones, athletic department head, Thursday afternoon, and these three men, whose names he would not reveal, have been asked to come to Madison for conferences. They are expected to make their appearance here about the middle of next week.

Just who the three men are is a matter open for much speculation. However, Jones practically admitted that one of the men is "Hod" Ofstie, who has gained favor throughout the state since his name was first mentioned in the Capital Times recently, with his wonderful record.

Is Jack Henderson of the University of Southern California another man being given final consideration? This is the opinion the writer got yesterday in an interview with Jones.

"Henderson is a fine coach, too," Jones said during the interview, after the merits of Ofstie were informally discussed.

The third man, who is he? It could be any one of big list of names. Perhaps it is Al Buser, Pat Page or Jimmie Brader. We could go on and name nearly 50 but might not hit the name even then.

Selection of a coach at the university, although being done with careful deliberation, is finally reaching an end and it wouldn't be surprising to see Jones call a meeting of the athletic council within the next two weeks and make his recommendation at that time. All that would remain to be done would be to have the regents O. K. the recommendation, and because of the conferences members of the regents have had with Jones of late it is certain that there will be no hitch here.

Eddie Boehme Meets Schauer At Milwaukee

Semi Bout Of Pinkey Mitchell's Title Go With Logan

MILWAUKEE— Eddie Boehme, south side lightweight, will be Johnny Schauer's adversary in the eight round semi final bout at the Auditorium next Tuesday night, to contest in the ten round semi Pinkey Mitchell and Bud Logan are to contest in the ten round main event. The Schauer-Boehme match was closed by promoter Otto Borchert on Thursday. The weight for the bout has been set at 138 pounds.

Mitchell's recently won junior welterweight championship and diamond studded belt will be at stake, when he encounters Logan. The latter hails from Omaha and over such fighters as Jack Britton, his record discloses knockdowns Billy Wells and Young Denny. Logan is no "chicken." He has fought about the best in his division and his record will convince the most ardent Mitchell followers that Pink will have a tough job on his hands next Tuesday night.

Logan arrived in Milwaukee on Thursday and indulged in a workout at Morgenroth's. He boxed with the Caveman Bob Moha and the railbirds who were present were more than pleased with his showing. Logan displayed plenty of class in his first local gym appearance and continued performances of the Thursday variety may compel the betters to make Bud a favorite to win the Tuesday fuss.

Hagen And Kirkwood Sign Movie Contracts

EL PASO, Tex. — Walter Hagen, British open golf champion, and Joe Kirkwood, Australian open champion, announced here last night that they had signed a contract to go into the movies. They will be cast in a picture with May McAvoy. After an exhibition in San Antonio, Tex., they will return to California to fill the contract, they said.

Babe Ruth To Stay In N. Y. For A Week

NEW YORK—Babe Ruth, former champion homerun hitter, will remain in New York until next week in order to avoid the rigors of a snowbound winter around Sudbury, Mass., it was announced today. The slugger arrived here yesterday to receive further treatment of an infected finger on his throwing hand. The infection is merely an ordinary boil. Ruth plans to leave here on Feb. 15 for Hot Springs, Ark.

Loran Siegar To Referee Girls' Game Saturday

Miss Loran Siegar, a University athlete, will referee the girls' game of basketball which is to be played in the City Y. M. C. A. Saturday night. The French Battery girls' basketball team will play the 4C College girls as a part of the Athletic Program of the Madison Industrial Athletic Association. Following the girls' game the Badger-State Shoe baseball team, champions in the indoor baseball series, will take on the Scanlon 1920 champs for a baseball game.

MARSHLAND — Five teams of horses dragged a wooden addition to the farm home of N. H. Carhart, near here, from its foundation and saved it from destruction by a fire that consumed the main part of the residence.

Handball Artists Go To Milwaukee Meet In February

Madison is to be represented in the Wisconsin Handball Championship which is to be played in the Milwaukee Athletic Club and Milwaukee Y. M. C. A. February 2 and 3 by Mayor Woods, Harry Mauer, A. L. Meyers, F. P. Cockrell, Dan Park, C. M. Baker and R. Briggs. These men will leave for the tournament Friday morning, Feb. 2 to participate in the preliminaries and to play in the finals on Saturday. They are considered among the best handball players in Madison and should bring home some of the trophies to be awarded.

Handball players from all over the state will participate in this tournament and some real competition is expected by the local aggregation. Mr. O. B. Porter who held the state championship for several years is unable to participate in the tournament. He is a Madison man and plays regularly in the Y. M. C. A. handball courts each afternoon. The Madison players who are in for the championship, however, are hoping to bring home another championship and are practicing hard for their games in Milwaukee.

Ohio State Boasts Of 40 Year Old Cheerleader

COLUMBUS, O. — Ohio State's athletic department has created a new distinction in the college sports world. The board has made Harry E. Ewing cheer leader emeritus.

"Mother" Ewing, as he is known among alumni in the class between 30 and 40 years old graduated back in 1909, but unfailingly presents himself before the crowd at every game to pep things up when the team is on the losing end. The board presented him with a cheer leader's "O" at a recent meeting.

Ewing, a 210 pounder, was dubbed "Mother" because he helped to doctor the boys when they were injured in the stern old football days.

Badgers Asked To Argue For Minimum Scale

Ask Leave To Appear In Defense Of Law Before Supreme Court

Wisconsin through Att. Gen. Herman L. Ekern has asked leave to appear before the Supreme court of the United States, in defense of the constitutionality of the minimum wage law case now pending, Mr. Ekern announced today.

Acting at the direction of Gov. Blaine he has applied or permission to intervene in the action as a friend of the court, the state industrial commission requested Gov Blaine to have Wisconsin take part in the suit.

The trial court in the District of Columbia first held the minimum wage law of the district constitutional and this decision was affirmed by the court of appeal of the district. A rehearsing was then denied with two judges favoring the constitutionality of the act, and one dissenting.

Later, according to Att. Gen. Ekern, on the appointment of a new judge, the [illegible] rehearsing was reversed and the act held unconstitutional. The case is set for argument in the Supreme court Feb. 26.

The attorney general intends to file briefs in the case and make arguments if his request to appear in behalf of the defense is granted. Wisconsin has a minimum wage law for women at its validity may indirectly be affected by the action.

Madison Carriers In Plea For Half Holiday

Circulation of petitions to sound public opinion on granting of Saturday half holidays was decided upon at a special meeting of the Madison carriers of the local postoffice held at the Association of Commerce rooms Wednesday night. This will be the first step taken in arranging for half holidays among postal employes without hindering the delivery of the mails. Assistance was offered the carriers by the Association of Commerce. Residents along the various routes will be given two petitions, for or against the proposal. These petitions will be circulated immediately.

Employment Has Improved In Past Year

Figures Show Slight Drop In Jobs During January

Employment as a whole in Wisconsin showed a light decrease during the last month, despite increases in seasonal industries, the state industrial commission reported. It concluded that for the year 1922 employment conditions were improved throughout Wisconsin when compared with the previous year.

"While it is true that the number of factory workers increased 1.1 per cent, logging employes 12.9 per cent and retail trade sales force 13.8 per cent, all lines of construction showed considerable decreases," the commission said. "There were 17.1 per cent fewer employes engaged in building construction, 14.5 per cent less in highway construction and 18 per cent less in railroad construction."

Factory employment showed increases in pig iron and rolling mill products, furniture and manufacturing, tanning, paper mill work, clothing, and meat packing.

The cost of living in December increased only three-tenths of one per cent and is now 1.6 per cent. less than it was in January 1922, and 22.3 per cent less than in July 1920.

Average weekly earnings in factories were 23.36 in December compared with $23.59 in November and $19.82 in January, 1922.

Hold Up Recommendation On Air-Lift Equipment

No recommendation on awarding of the contract for new air lift equipment for the water department will be made to the city council tonight from the board of public works. The board met Thursday afternoon and opened bids on the new air lift equipment but decided to withhold decision for two weeks until the bids have been tabulated and an analysis made by L. A. Smith, superintendent of the city water department. Three companies submitted bids. The committee will meet prior to the February meeting of the council and make its recommendation at that meeting.

Council Will Hear Hospital Plan Tonight

At a meeting of the board of health Thursday an informal discussion was held on the purchase of land to be used for an addition to the contagious hospital site on E. Washington ave. Purchase of this additional land will be brought before the council tonight.

An attempt is being made by local physicians to have the hospital built near the General hospital to be handled in conjunction with this institution. Members of the city council viewed the premises last Sunday afternoon.

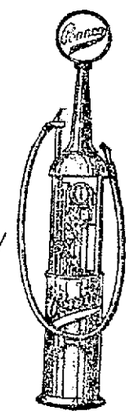

A judgment of $3,000 is asked of J. J. Bickley and J. C. Bickley in three separate suits filed in Circuit court here today by the Bank of Wisconsin. Non-payment notes of $2,000 and two of $500 each are the cause of the suits.

Wheat Prices Drop Due To Ruhr Report

(By [illegible] Associated Press)

CHICAGO—Wheat underwent a moderate setback in price today during the early dealings, rainy weather in the winter crop belt having a bearish influence. The downward tendency of values was emphasized somewhat by a statement from Secty. Hoover that French occupation of the Ruhr was likely to result in curtailment of wheat exports from the U. S. On the declines in price, however, previous sellers turned to the buying side and brought about a slight rally. The opening which varied from unchanged figures to [illegible] lower, with May 1.16½ to 1.16⅞, and July 1.11¼ to 1.11½, was followed by downturns all around before any reaction [illegible].

Steel And Rail Issues Are In Brisk Demand

(By the Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Opening prices in today's stock market were irregular, most of the initial changes being of a fractional nature. Demand was centered in the independent steels, rails and equipments, with heaviness being apparent in a number of the coppers and oils. Columbia gas opened a point higher and Consolidated Gas new stock which advanced 6 points yesterday, dropped back ¾ of a point. Fisher Body opened 9 points higher at 182 on overnight announcement that W. C. Durant, automobile manufacturer had offered to buy the outstanding capital stock at $200 a share. Woolworth advanced five points, Postum Cereal [illegible], and gains of 1 to 2 points were scored by Corn Products, United Retail Stores, Owen's Bottle, MacKay companies and California Petroleum. Burns Brothers A gained ½ and then dropped back [illegible] Tube & Steel Pfd., Allied Chemical, North American and Piggly Wiggly yielded fractionally. Foreign exchange opened easier.

The closing was firm; week-end profit-taking towards the close caused a slight shading of values in some of the popular speculative favorites while a continuance of pool operations in others carried them to their best levels of the day.

Save Boys and Girls From Felons' Cells

THE Dane county board of supervisors is to be asked to take action that will make the probation system of Dane county adequate to the present needs of this community. It is proposed that a woman probation officer, an assistant to Mr. Purcell, shall be appointed.

At the present time Mr. Purcell's "family" consists of 115 people. Over 100 people have been paroled to him by local judges and it is his duty to exercise supervision over this number.

Competent social welfare experts maintain that such a number is too large for one person to handle. Mr. Purcell cannot be expected to maintain more than superficial supervision over such a large number.

* * *

THE principle of probation has long been accepted by society. Our aim these days is to correct people rather than to punish them. If a boy or girl, committing a minor offense for the first time, can be saved from a felon's cell society will benefit by having that boy or girl straightened out rather than to put iron into their hearts with penal servitude and disgrace.

This is what Mr. Purcell is doing in Dane county. He halts the boys and girls on their way to prison and turns their faces the other way. The local probation officer's records are replete with instances showing where men, women and children have remained useful members of society after making one slip and then being probationed.

* * *

THE Capital Times believes that the board of supervisors should act favorably on this proposal. It can be justified from the standpoint of economy as well as from other considerations. Arrests, trials and imprisonment are expensive to society. If this expense can be avoided and the people who usually come under the domain of probation be made better citizens by probation than by prison terms then it is economy of the highest order.

* * *

THE movement for a woman probation officer is being undertaken through the initiative of the Dane County League of Women Voters. It is a commendable undertaking and these women are entitled to public approval for initiating this movement.

The Capital Times hopes that the women will not stop with the woman probation officer plan. There is much other work to do in Dane county. The women can render a great service by addressing themselves to conditions here in Dane county that make probation necessary. The SOURCE of these evils should be given as much attention as the FINISHED PRODUCTS.

Moonshine and county dance halls are doing much in Dane county toward delinquency. A girl, a moonshine bottle and a country dance make a combination that calls for the probation officer. The Capital Times believes that another probation officer is not the ONLY remedy. If we don't eliminate the evils that arise out of the country dance and the moonshine bottle we will need more than two probation officers to take care of conditions.

* * *

WE are glad to note, therefore, that movements are also being initiated to remedy these conditions. The county board will be asked to cope with the dance hall evil. In the legislature, Senator Huber is offering remedial legislation that will not permit bootleggers and moonshiners to slip through the Huber law to liberty.

The board of supervisors should act favorably on the proposal for a woman probation officer. It is good economy and it is something more—it will save many a boy and girl from a prison cell and turn them, instead, toward the goal of better citizenship.

Ask the first man you meet what class of people constitute the chief buyers of scythes, and the answer will be: "Farmers, of course." As a matter of fact, the railroads are the chief buyers of that primitive form of grass cutter. This merely illustrates the fact that there are many misunderstandings due to a lack of information.—Kenosha News.

The Journal of Milwaukee prints the following from its Madison correspondent which is printed for what it is worth: "Wets who fought for the administration ticket will be puzzled by the committee assignments to the state affairs committee in the senate and assembly, to which prohibition measures are usually referred. The senate state affairs committee is composed of Senators Titus, Roethe, Smith and Lange, drys, and Bilgrien, Gettleman and Schumann, wets. The assembly committee comprises Goodman, Grandine, Freehoff, Halverson, Mosley and Kemper, drys, and Weber, Zittlow, Prescott, Salter and Smith, wets. Both committees are so framed that adverse action may be expected on proposals to lift liquor restrictions."

It is five years since Wisconsin adopted the system of marking its highways for the guidance and convenience of travelers, and placing the improved highways under the care of regular patrols, charged with the duty of keeping these roads in good condition. The expense that has been devoted to this public service, however, has brought abundant returns, and some of the more pronounced benefits and advantages have been called to atention by J. T. Donaghey, maintenance engineer of the Wisconsin highway commission. Mr. Donaghey declares that one result of this system has been to place practically every city and village in the state on a well-maintained and marked highway, which alone is a matter of large importance, as it means increased convenience and better transportation facilities. But this new system also has helped to distribute traffic over a larger mileage, thereby reducing congestion on the principal highways; has increased traffic speed to a considerable degree, probably at least ten miles an hour; has made night driving safe and practical; and, finally, greatly has helped to increase tourist travel, it being estimated that during the five years that this system has been in vogue "outside" tourists have left not less than $300,000,000 in Wisconsin, with an estimated profit of $60,000,000, or more than seven times the amount actually expended for patrol maintenance and the marking of the state highways.—Oshkosh Northwestern.

Asks Sisterhood

Brotherhood of Man Succeeded By Sisterhood of Woman, Says Mrs. Robins.

"It is the sisterhood of woman that has succeeded the cry of the brotherhood of man." So says Mrs. Raymond Robins, prominent in social and suffrage enterprises. "The rich woman of today realizes that her money is just an accident for which she, in almost every case, is least of all responsible. She need not delude herself into thinking that it makes her any different from any other woman, only a bit more fortunate than some. I think most wealthy women are fast losing the arrogant spirit of giving. There is a big difference between the present attitude of the woman who would help her fellow women and Lady Bountiful of a generation ago. That sweet and tender individual was firmly convinced she could redeem the race with fruit and flowers."

Barney Oldfield relates that he was once in partnership with Henry Ford, but afterwards dissolved that union and went with some one else. Some time later a friend of the Detroit manufacturer made the statement to him:

"Well, Hank, Barney Oldfield helped to make you."

"Yes," replied Mr. Ford, "and I helped to make him."

When next Barney saw his former partner he asked him if he had said such a thing, and Mr. Ford readily admitted that he had.

"Well, all I've got to say," answered the noted racer, "is, that if I helped to make you and you helped to make me, I did a lot better job than you did!"—Judge.

"That woman is the most awful actress I ever saw," said the mild-mannered man to his neighbor.

"That lady is my wife," replied the neighbor.

"I am wrong," said the m. m. m.: "she is a good actress struggling with a rotten play. I wonder what fool wrote it."

"Unfortunately, I am the author," said the neighbor simply.—Columbia Jester.

Huber Resolution

Readers Commend Editorial on Burning of Petition of the University Faculty

FROM UNIVERSITY STUDENT

[To the Editor]—I quite approve of the stand you are taking in matters of politics, and I agree with you that the burning of that infamous document will cause much bad blood. However, a very good argument can be made in its favor. But neglecting to push that farther, I wish to make another point, perhaps a point that has been made by some one before.

I hope you are taking that stand on the Round Robin, at the same time knowing what it is better to do than to burn it publicly. For otherwise, it would appear that you are willing to hush up things as they are now. Now I contend that it is better to cause much bad blood, than to stop with this matter at this time.

I had hoped that this bill of Mr. Huber's would start the cleaning up that is so necessary at the university. I repeat that the burning of that document would be a good beginning, unless, indeed, there is a better way. I think that it is your duty to this state, since there are no other free papers, to let the people know what powers are at work at the university that no professor dares to oppose. Also to let them know who the golden few men on the hill are, who could not be cowed by influence and power, who would not submit to that outrage practiced upon most of the others. The election last fall not only vindicated La Follette, the greatest son of this state, but also these golden few professors. Mr. La Follette is now being rewarded by the people of this state, but the men who are no less important to this state are not generally known to the people. I say that these men are as important to the state as Mr. La Follette because without them, the state can only produce great sons in spite of the GREAT UNIVERSITY. I am certain that Mr. La Follette was a product that developed in spite of the university authorities. My point is proved by that famous document.

Now I contend that the professors at the university are still laboring under the same sinister influence as existed during the war. Not even now does a professor dare to do as he knows in his own judgment to be just. It is just as serious to get kicked out of the university as it ever was. Conscience, you know, makes cowards of us all. In the two high schools in which I taught in this state, things are even more rotten. But these two, I am sure, are typical of the rest.

Now, therefore, Mr. Editor, won't you devote a part of your paper to getting rid of the evil at its very source. You need not fear the university, for such as there are who would injure your business, are weak from the slap that the election last fall gave them, and the others will surely side with you. Every one of the men on the hill are just chafing to get a chance to let you know who is controlling them like a mater controlls a slave. My last word is "Please help this state get the university as its own, and by setting a good example with the Round Robin, help the legislators to pass laws that will make it impossible for a professor to lose his position because of some thing he said or refused to say."—O. A. Koepp (Student)

HE SEES SPIRIT OF REVENGE

[To the Editor]—I am an interested reader of The Capital Times. I do not always agree with your editorials. But I must express my hearty commendation of yesterday's editorial, entitled "History Cannot Be Changed by Bonfire." A great many others say the same. The "bonfire resolution" now pending in the state senate has altogether too much of the retaliatory spirit. It has a grim suggestiveness of the days of the Inquisition, when Bibles were burned on public squares and Bible readers were burned with them.

The "protest" of university professors of 1918 were written and signed and deposited for safekeeping. The Capital Times also printed it in full, including the 300 signatures. To be consistent, the author of the "bonfire resolution" should send detectives over the broad republic, ferreting out every one of the 16,000 or 17,000 copies of that issue, and burn them too on the Capitol square. Will he do it? A thousand times no! And if this "bonfire resolution" is forced through the senate, it will alienate thousands of progressive men and women who believe in free speech, who believe in reasoning rather than revenging, who believe in ballots and not in bullets or bonfires.—Madisonian.

A QUESTION TO BE SETTLED.

To the Editor:

When I gulp at the headlines of some of our morning papers I feel as you feel when you stare into one of those cheap wavy mirrors. They make you look as if you must be dizzy.

If I now read, with understanding, the world's one common conviction is that the only way to lower the cost of living is to raise prices. The cost of living is high; wages must be raised above it. Faultless logic this. Stubbornly across my mental screen intrudes the image of a running man in the sunlight trying to get ahead of his shadow.

Let us look closer at the "golden day" of plenty which our unions assure us is coming. The clearest vision that I can get is supplied by that delightful socialist, Geo. Bernard Shaw. Mr. Shaw declares "the golden day will come and come only when all the world is paid equal wages, and when labor receives its inherent right to what it produces."

I take it from this that our railway employes have an "inherent right" to the railways because they produce them. The typewriter which I have in my room may at any moment strike to enforce its "inherent right" to what it produces.

Under the equal wage system there would be no poverty; no unfairness; no oppression; the engineer and farmer would be paid alike; the shoemaker, the doctor, the window washer, the architect, the hotel manager and elevator boy, etc. Looks good, can't deny it.

Does Mr. Shaw intend the window washer to enjoy an income equal to his own? He has neglected to enlighten us on this point.

Would you study eight years to learn a difficult profession when you could get the same remard without studying? Recalling our old friend, law of Supply and Demand, how long will there be professors and instructors up on the hill when the followers of twenty other trades get three and four times as much as they?

When this "golden day of plenty" comes just how will the man who produces much be persuaded to raise the wage of the man who produces little?—H. F. Bowman.

Echoes of Old Madison

THE FIRST SERMON
BY EARLY MADISONIAN

The building of the territorial capitol commenced in 1837—about eleven years before Wisconsin became a state. This brought a large number of workmen and would-be permanent residents of Madison to the vicinity. So, during the summer, Reverend Salmon Stebbins, presiding elder of Milwaukee district in the Illinois conference, in accord with the primitive Methodist spirit of following the settlers' camp-fires, visited the people, and preached to them the first sermon of any kind given on the site of the capitol.

A hearty welcome was given him, and he attached the place to the Aztalan Mission, to which Samuel Pillsbury and Jesse Halstead had been appointed; and they also offered their ministrations to the little flock of all denominations as often as great distances and cruel winters would permit. As the settlements were sparse, circuits of necessity embraced a large tract of country; so the first pastor, John Hodge, held in his charge during the year 1838 the region between Madison and Fort Winnebago.

More than ten years of constant and consistent effort resulted in the building known as the First Methodist church, one of the attainments of a faithful worker, Father William Fox of Oregon.

Small, but deeply appreciated, it served its congregation for more than twenty years and then gave place to the present commodious edifice.

It is but fitting that one beautiful incident in the story of Methodism in our city be here related.

In 1861, soon after the beginning of the war of the rebellion, the session of the West Wisconsin Conference was held in the capitol. With the Stars and Stripes waving over the heads of ministers and laymen, a set of resolutions was adopted proffering aid and comfort to President Lincoln in the mighty struggle for life and liberty.

This expression of sympathy and support was the first offered the sorrowing chief by any ecclesiastical body. In the journals of the religious body was entered Abraham Lincoln's grateful and appreciative response.

Poems That Live

TO MARY IN HEAVEN

Thou lingering star, with lessening ray,
That lov'st to greet the early morn,
Again thou usher'st in the day
My Mary from my soul was torn.

O Mary! dear departed shade!
Where is thy place of blissful rest?
Seest thou thy lover lowly laid?
Hear'st thou the groans that rend his breast?

That sacred hour can I forget,
Can I forget the hallow'd grove,
Where by the winding Ayr we met,
To live one day of parting love?

Eternity will not efface
Those records dear of transports past;
Thy image at our last embrace;
Ah! little thought we 'twas our last!

Ayr gurgling kiss'd his pebbled shore,
O'erhung with wild woods, thickening, green,
The fragrant birch, and hawthorne hoar,
Twined amorous round the raptured scene.

The flowers sprang wanton to be press'd,
The birds sang love on every spray,
Till too, too soon the glowing west
Proclaimed the speed of wing'd day.

Still o'er these scenes my memory wakes,
And foundly broods with miser care!
Time but the impression deeper makes,
As streams their channels deeper wear.

My Mary, dear departed shade!
Where is thy blissful place of rest?
Seest thou thy lover lowly laid?
Hear'st thou the groans that rend his breast?

—Robert Burns.

Just Folks by Edgar A. Guest

A THOUGHT

This I would do from morn till night:
Cling to the course I know is right,
Scorning the easier way to take
Or cunning path for profit's sake,
Meeting the day and all it asks
Face front and ready for my tasks,
Content with what my best can earn
Till better workmanship I learn.

This I would do, to keep my post
And of its pleasures make the most,
To reap each day the joy that lies
Deep in my children's sparkling eyes,
To watch them grow in charm and truth,
To share the ecstacy of youth
And at my fireside come to rest,
Not at my worst, but at my best.

This I would do; from start to end
Try to be worthy of each friend,
To mean as much to him as he
Has grown to mean to mine and me;
To share his burden, as he shares
Ungrudgingly my weight of cares,
To take his smile from day to day
As something that I must repay.

This I would do: to strive to grow
In understanding, and to know
That I possess the summer skies,
The trees, the charm of laughing eyes,
The faith of friends, a sheltering roof—
And these against all thieves are proof.
Thus if no beauty here I see,
The fault lies not with life, but me.

A Close-up

Of That Missouri & North Arkansas Railroad

Let us have a look at the Missouri & North Arkansas railroad, in behalf of which armed mobs have run the regularly elected officers out of town, whipped men and women and lynched at least one man. The road was insolvent and in the hands of a receiver.

It had been "valued" by the Interstate Commerce Commission, under the Esch-Cummins law, at upward of $16,000,000.

It was sold at public sale for $3,000,000.

Immediately the men who bought it for $3,000,000 came down to Washington and asked for and got a loan of $3,500,000 through the Interstate Commerce Commission under the Esch-Cummins law.

They applied for the money on March 29, 1922, and got it April 4, 1922, which is some speed for a Washington government agency.

Commissioner Eastman alone dissented. He said

"The United States is in effect buying the road at a sum much in excess of its alleged market value, while at the same time control and management are permitted to remain in the hands of private parties."

The road seems to be used largely for the transportation of mobs.

There's railroad operation on the ship-subsidy theory—Uncle Sam buys the roads for more than they are worth and gives them back to the folks who ran them into receivership, thus demonstrating what "private enterprise" can do when it gets close enough to the U. S. treasury with a jimmy in its good right hand.—Washington News.

"I've made up my mind to buy a new car."

"That so? What make are you going to buy?"

"I'm keeping that a secret. If I were to tell you the type of car I've decided to purchase you'd start right in to tell me what a lemon it is."—Detroit Free Press.

On the Side

FAME

The tell me it's great to be famous,
And maybe it is; I don't know.
But I'd rather sit and do my wee bit,
And watch my small projects grow.

Applause is the prize of the mighty,
The stuff of which heroes are made.
The spotlight's immense and, though I seem dense,
I'd rather thrive in the shade.

I've seen many folk become famous
And rise through the public acclaim.
But, Lord, when they drop, what a terrible flop!
For it is a nerve-racking game.

The higher they are, some one said it,
The harder they hit when they fall,
While I could go smash with a soft, modest crash,
And no one would know it at all.

A fie on the seats of the mighty;
They tumble around us each day;
While the unworshipped cuss, without feathers or fuss,
Contentedly plods on his way.

Somebody has said there are not as many girls on the street now. No. A great many are at home waiting for their hair to grow out again.

A beauty specialist who writes pieces for the paper says: "Doy ou want a pretty nose? If so acquire it. The best way to acquire a beautiful nose is to be born with one." Well, if there is anything in the world that we have always wanted, it has been a beautiful nose. We feel that with a pretty nose we might have amounted to something, and every time we have passed a man who had a pretty nose we have envied him mightily. It is a little late for us to be born with one and so we will have to set about to acquire it in other ways. In the old days many men had beautiful noses, but they seem to have lost their Italian sunset tint since prohibition. How many beautiful noses we used to see on men. Some of them were actually picturesque. But now we must resort to science. Nature did a great deal for our particular nose, but its work was what might be called rough in spots. It looks like a hurry-up job, but this beauty specialist has given us hope and with a beautiful nose we feel certain that wealth, health and happiness will come. We don't know of anything that will keep us out of the movies. Only an old-fashioned home-made nose has kept us out thus far.

All moved but one man, whom the captain addressed, with a stern glance at the laggards:

"Private Jones, I'm proud of you. You are the only man in the whole company who really wants to go."

Jones, highly gratified, said: "Why, you see, sah, I hates to take dem two steps."

It's your diet, Old Top,
It's your diet.

Fat for the lean and lean for the fat.

Some way, this Coue stuff sounds cuckoo.

Up with the window, down with the grippe.

What's the use of curing things which we can keep from having?

Technical problems are often the barriers to the apprehension of healthy carriers.

It isn't always what we take that gets us well. Nature oft' affects a cure in spite of what we tell.

Refusing protection against infection is your right; but exposing my children to your contagion is not your privilege.

Unless we know what we are taking, why we are taking it and what it will do after we take it, we shouldn't meddle with medicine.

Unclean dairy milk is said to be the chief causative factor in one-fourth of all deaths occurring before the end of the second year of life.
